Acknowledgement

During the course of my research work there were a number of individuals and well wishers who have helped me along the way and I take this opportunity to express my gratitude to all of them.

Firstly, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to the supervisor of this thesis, Prof. C.L Imchen for guiding my thought and leading me in a direction I would scarce have been able to find on my own. Owing to his intellectual inputs and suggestions I have been able to mould the study into the shape that it has taken. I am grateful for his constant encouragement, enthusiasm and guidance.

I am also thankful to Prof. Lanu Aier, Dr. A.K Nongkynrih, Dr. D.V Kumar, Dr. R. Shangpliang, Dr. P. Panda for their valuable insight and help while undertaking this course of research work.

I am most thankful to the respondents- all the members of Lathao village, for their cooperation in patiently answering my questions. Without their support and cooperation I would not have been able to gather all the data required and this study would not have seen the light of day. I am immensely grateful to my key respondents with whom many repeated visits and long interactions were made- Nang Haum Namchoom, Nang Mutoti Mounglang, Nang Chanti Chowtang, Chow Miti priest of the village for reading all the Tai Khampti texts, to Chow Pingthika Namchoom chief of Lathao for helping me translate the Thamasat along with the priest, Chow N. Mannaw Gaon Bura of Lathao for giving me their valuable time and rendering their help in my work. I am also grateful to Chow Khouk Manpong for sharing his library and members of the Tai Khampti Singpho council who were interviewed for providing records and files and to the chiefs of Chowkham, Impong and Sulungtoo villages for their contributions.

I am deeply grateful to North Eastern Hill University and the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) for providing me with the necessary grant to meet the expenses of this study.

Heartfelt gratitude also goes out to my friend and constant companion Jeffrey Wahlang.

I am thankful to Kanaliya Namchoom, Karina Namchoom and Bramadutt Namchoom for their encouragement, support and help during my fieldwork.

Most of all even words fail to express the gratitude I feel towards my father Chow Pingthika Namchoom not only for his contribution as a key respondent in the study but also for being my biggest support and for his unfailing belief in my endeavor. For going through the entire length of my thesis and for your enthusiasm and constant encouragement and support to persist in my research work I am forever thankful. My deepest gratitude also goes to my loving mother Khensini Namchoom for her patience and support.
