Chapter 1

INTRODUCTION ........................................................................................................... 1-43

1.1 Entitlements and Capability Approach of Amarhy Sen ................................. 4

1.2 Women in History ................................................................................................. 8

1.3 Women in Development Approach ...................................................................... 10

1.3.1 Relevance Approach ......................................................................................... 11

1.4 Women and Development Approach .................................................................... 11

1.5 Gender and Development Approach .................................................................... 12

1.6 Women as Agents of Development ....................................................................... 14

1.6.1 Factors Supporting Women to be Active Agents of Development ................. 15

1.6.1.1 Education ........................................................................................................ 15

1.6.1.2 Employment ................................................................................................... 15

1.6.1.3 Asset Ownership ............................................................................................. 18

1.6.1.4 Decision Making Power ................................................................................ 19

1.6.2 Factors Hindering Women to be Active Agents of Development ....................... 20

1.6.2.1 Illiteracy ......................................................................................................... 21
Chapter 2

REVIEW OF LITERATURE ................................................................. 44-95

2.1 Literature Review ................................................................. 44

2.1.1 Financial Entitlements and Capabilities of Women ............. 44

2.1.2 Women and Socio-Economic Development ..................... 49

2.1.3 Women and Decision Making ........................................... 54

2.1.4 Gender Inequality ............................................................ 63

2.2 Theoretical Framework ......................................................... 71

2.2.1 Theories on Women’s Subordination ............................... 71

2.2.1.1 Natural Basis of Women’s Subordination .................... 72

2.2.1.2 Biological Explanation ............................................. 72

2.2.1.3 Natural Inequality View ......................................... 73

2.2.1.4 The Social Consent and Contract theory .................... 73

2.2.1.5 Women’s Subordination in Engel’s View .................... 74

2.2.1.6 Marx’s View on Women’s Subordination .................... 74

2.2.2 Theories on Family Decision Making .............................. 75

2.2.2.1 Family System Theory ............................................ 75

2.2.2.2 Bargaining Theory ............................................... 75

2.2.2.1.1 Co-operative Bargaining Model (Non-Unitary Model) .... 76

2.2.2.2.2 Non-cooperative Bargaining Model (Unitary Model) .... 77

2.2.3 Theories on Gender Differences ................................ ..... 78

2.2.3.1 Theory of Conflict ............................................... 78

2.2.3.2 Structural Functionalist Theory of Gender Inequality .... 79

2.2.3.3 Alice Eagly’s Social Role Theory of Gender Differences .... 80
2.2.3.4 Judith Buber Agassi’s Theory of Gender Equality ..........80
2.2.3.5 Social Cognitive Theory of Gender Development and Differentiation.............................................................81
2.2.3.6 The Comparative Resource Contributions Theory ..........81
2.2.4 Psychoanalytic Theory..................................................82
2.2.5 Functionalist Perspectives of Gender Roles ..................82
2.2.6 Theory of Preference ...................................................82
2.2.7 The Neo-classical Model of the Family .........................83
2.2.8 Object Relations Theory...............................................83
2.2.9 Male Bread Winner Theory............................................84

Chapter 3

ENTITLEMENTS AND CAPABILITIES:
ISSUES AND CHALLENGES OF WOMEN........................................96-156
3.1 Entitlements.................................................................96
3.2 Human Rights ............................................................96
   3.2.1 Rights of Women......................................................97
   3.2.2 Violation of Women’s Rights........................................98
3.3 Financial Capability.....................................................100
   3.3.1 Factors Influencing Financial Capability .........................101
   3.3.2 Factors Hindering Financial Entitlements and Capabilities of Women..................................................103
3.4 Capabilities of Women and Empowerment.......................122
3.5 Financial Entitlements and Capabilities of Women in Indian Context.............................................................126
3.5.1 Status of Women and Entitlements in Ancient India .......... 127
3.5.2 Status of Women in Medieval India ............................... 129
3.5.3 Status of Women in Modern India ................................. 130
3.5.4 Educational and Employment Status of Women in India .................................................................. 134
3.5.4.1 Educational Status ....................................................... 134
3.5.4.2 Present Scenario ......................................................... 136
3.5.4.3 Employment Status ...................................................... 137
3.6 Financial Independence of Women ................................. 139
3.7 Women in Kerala: A Review ............................................ 141
3.7.1 Kerala: A Profile ............................................................. 141
3.7.2 Health Status of Women in Kerala ................................. 143
3.7.3 Female Literacy and Education in Kerala ....................... 144
3.7.4 Work Participation of Women in Kerala ......................... 145

Chapter 4
FINANCIAL ENTITLEMENTS AND CAPABILITIES
OF WOMEN: AN ANALYSIS .................................................. 157-209
4.1 Analysis of Personal Variables .......................................... 157
4.1.1 Demographic Profile ...................................................... 157
4.1.2 Social Profile ................................................................. 158
4.1.2.1 Religion-wise Classification of Respondents ................. 158
4.1.2.2 Educational Qualification ............................................. 159
4.1.2.3 Employment Status ...................................................... 160
4.1.2.4 Types of Employment ................................................................. 160
4.1.3 Economic Profile ................................................................. 161
4.1.3.1 Monthly Family Income of Respondents .............................. 161
4.1.3.2 Savings and Liability Position .......................................... 162
4.1.3.3 Assets Held by Respondents ........................................... 162
4.2 Analysis of Core Variables ............................................................... 163
4.2.1 Employment Status of Respondents ........................................ 164
4.2.1.1 Employment Status and Level of Confidence .................... 164
4.2.1.2 Difficulty in Managing Job and Household Activities ....... 165
4.2.1.3 Sharing of Household Activities of Employed Respondents ......................................................... 167
4.2.1.4 Reasons for Unemployment ............................................... 168
4.2.2 Unpaid Care Work of the Respondents ..................................... 170
4.2.2.1 Household Works by the Respondents ............................... 170
4.2.2.2 Child Care by Respondents with Small Children ............... 172
4.2.2.3 Care of the Sick/Elderly ...................................................... 176
4.2.2.4 Caring of Pet/Domestic Animals ...................................... 177
4.2.2.5 Personal Care ................................................................. 178
4.2.3 Financial Freedom of Respondents .......................................... 179
4.2.3.1 Overall Financial Freedom ............................................... 179
4.2.3.2 Financial Freedom on Various Aspects .............................. 180
4.2.3.3 Association between Taluk and Financial Freedom ........... 183
4.2.3.4 Religion and Financial Freedom ...................................... 185
4.2.4 Decision Making Power of the Respondents .......................... 186
4.2.4.1 Decision Making on Family Matters.................................186
4.2.4.2 Decision Making on Children .................................................190
4.2.4.2.1 Decision Making on Education of Children .......................190
4.2.4.2.2 Decision Making on Marriage of Children .......................191
4.2.4.3 Employment Status and Decision Making Power .................192
4.2.4.4 Asset Ownership and Decision Making Power .................193
4.2.4.4.1 Possession of Gold and Decision Making Power ...............194
4.2.4.4.2 Possession of Land and Decision Making Power ...............195
4.2.4.4.3 Possession of Building and Decision Making Power ..........196
4.2.4.4.4 Possession of House and Decision Making Power ..........197
4.2.4.4.5 Possession of Insurance and Decision Making Power ......198
4.2.5 Financial Capability of the Respondents ..............................199
4.2.5.1 Age-wise Financial Capability ............................................199
4.2.5.2 Taluk-wise Financial Capability ...........................................202
4.2.5.3 Religion and Financial Capability ....................................205
4.2.5.4 Level of Education and Financial Capability ....................207
4.2.5.5 Employment Status and Financial Capability .................209

Chapter 5

FINDINGS, SUGGESTIONS AND CONCLUSION ......................... 210-222

5.1 Findings .....................................................................................211
5.1.1 Financial Capabilities of Respondents .................................211
5.1.2 Ownership of Assets .............................................................212
5.1.3 Freedom Enjoyed in Household Decision Making ..........213
5.1.4 Decision Making Power in the Allocation of Family Income ........................................214
5.1.5 Freedom in Spending Income .................................................................214
5.1.6 Time Allocation for Unpaid Care Work ................................................215
5.2 Scope for Future Research .................................................................216
5.3 Suggestions .........................................................................................216
  5.3.1 Suggestions to the Government .....................................................216
  5.3.2 Suggestions to the Society ...........................................................218
  5.3.3 Suggestions to the Family ............................................................219
  5.3.4 Suggestions to Women .................................................................219
5.4 Conclusion ..........................................................................................220

Bibliography

Appendices