BIBLIOGRAPHY

Dr. I. Satya Sundaram (2000) Says that India Produces 63 varieties of Spices on Two million hectares of land area of land area with value exceeding Rs.42000 million (two million tonnes a year).

Garge et al., (1977) used the random sampling method of analysis for estimation of production of turmeric and have found out that the area which harvested the crop was calculated at 1741 hectares of land area which yielding 5858 tones of dry cured turmeric.

Karthirvel and Maniam (1999) studied turmeric as one of the major spices cultivated in India,  Ramarao et.al., (1995) conducted a study on cultivation of turmeric crop in Andhra Pradesh.

Singh (1995) on production of turmeric in Bihar indicates that area, Production, Productivity of turmeric in the state of Bihar

Singh (1995) on production of turmeric in Bihar indicates that area, Production, Productivity of turmeric in the state of Bihar

Sriraman and Balasubramanian (1969) in this report examined the production and marketing of Turmeric and Chilli in Madras state in comparison with other states.

Tholkappian and Rukmani devi (2013) conducted “A study on economic analysis of organic and conventional cultivation of turmeric crop of Erode district in Tamil Nadu”

Wallace Huffman (2010), The Status of Labour-Saving Mechanization in Fruits and Vegetables Staff General Research Papers From Iowa State University, Department Of Economics.

Wright, A., (1971) System Analysis in Agricultural Management, Willey and Sons, Australia, p.32-99