ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I owe my first words of gratitude to Dr. Darshana Bhatt, my guide, a beacon of light and hope. I am extremely thankful to her, for her scholarly insights, dedication, meticulous reading of the drafts, for streamlining my research and for the extra push towards quality achievement. I am indebted to her, for the constant support, encouragement, motivation and the guidance showered. I am grateful to her for being the wonderful person that she is, this work would not see the light of the day without her guidance and efforts. I am equally thankful to Dr. Nutan Kotak for her support, guidance and being that motivating force.

A big thank you, to my friend Nimisha Chaudhari for providing references and links with the traditional folk artists and troupes, for accompanying me for the late night performances, for providing valuable inputs and above all for helping me with photography. I extend my heartfelt thanks to my friend and colleague Prof Deepmala Thakkar, for accompanying me for the interviews and for the umpteen efforts in helping me understand and translate Sanskrit shlokas for the thesis. I cannot forget to thank my dear friend Anila Nair for being instrumental in providing a direction to my thesis without which I would be totally lost. I heartily thank Mr. Bhalchandra Joshi and Mrs. Vaishali Joshi for the hospitality when in Pune and, accompanying me in my search of Tamasha artists.

My sincere thanks to Prof Ravi Ughrejiya, for being the unknown messiah providing me important references, especially that of Prof. Janak Dave. I express my sincere gratitude to Prof. Janak Dave for the enthusiasm that he exudes at this age and the ever ready approach to help students, for sparing his valuable time for the interview, for providing literature, photographs and reference material that were extremely useful. I am equally thankful to Prof. Mahesh Champaklal, for the interview and for sharing his views and providing necessary insights into the topic. My heartfelt thanks to playwright Mr. Pravin Pandya, for sparing his valuable time for the discussions and interview, for the books, and for providing the reviews and articles regarding the play, for being the epitome of humility. I am equally thankful to Kali Kala Mandal for inviting us to view their performance, for sharing information regarding Bhavai and their troupe, for permitting for photography and extending all possible help. I extend my thanks to the curator of Vadnagar Museum for permitting us for photography and the guide for the valuable tour of the museum.

A special thanks to Mr. Girish Karnad for replying to my email inspite of his busy schedule. I convey my deepest gratitude to Mr. Keremane Shivananda Hegde for transcending the barriers of distance and consenting to a telephonic audience. I am thankful to him for providing a detailed view of Yakshagana and permitting me to use the photographs of his troupe’s performances.

A special note of thanks to Mr. Onkar Das Manikpuri, for agreeing to meet at Mumbai, granting an audience, sharing his theatrical experiences, providing in depth view Nacha and for the photographs.

I am thankful to Mr. Abdul Majid for an access to Aryabhushan Theatre and for providing his views on the theatre, art and the artists, it is through him that I was fortunate to meet certain Tamasha artists. I am equally grateful to the Tamasha Artists Mr. Suniv Baburao Jvale, Chandrakant Namdev Lakhe and Raima Kale for sparing their valuable time for us and providing a better understanding of the form. I am indebted to Chandrakant Namdev for providing me the photographs.

I wish to acknowledge my appreciation towards the staff of Gujarat Vidhyapith library for being ever helpful and allowing me access to rare books.
I would fail in my endeavour, if I fail to acknowledge and thank my guru, mentor and guide Dr. Rupalee Burke, who initiated me into research, who upholds the principles of discipline and hardwork, a gem of a person and my saviour whom I fall back on in trying times.

I am grateful to my parents for their constant reminders, my father for taking over the household chores so that I am able to complete my research, my sister for the books from USA and her constant motivation, my ever loving brother for sponsoring my research, for help with the photography of Tamasha and the printing of the thesis, above all my nephew and niece for being that bundle of joy making my task lighter with their beautiful bright smiles.
