ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Bow to the Almighty, who is the cause and end!

I express my sincere gratitude and respect to my supervisor Professor Anil Raina, Department of English and Cultural Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh whose guidance and support have been magnanimous from day one. I feel truly fortunate to have been under his scholarly and methodical purview, and proficient supervision.

I am extremely grateful to the Chairperson, Professor Deepti Gupta (a friend, a philosopher and a guide), for her valuable advices and consistent encouragement throughout the course of my study especially during tough times when the thesis work seemed insurmountable.

I take this opportunity to sincerely acknowledge the University Grants Commission, Government of India, New Delhi for providing financial assistance in the form of JRF and SRF grants which helped me to accomplish my research work comfortably. I am also very grateful to all other faculty members of the Department for their support and encouragement. My special thanks to non-teaching staff including the library staff of the department for their kind and helpful attitude. Thanks are also due to the staff of A.C. Joshi Library, Panjab University and Central Sikh Museum, Amritsar for their co-operation.

I would not have been able to complete my work without the unconditional support of my parents who are always a great source of inspiration for me. I find myself at a loss for words when it comes to expressing my gratitude to my Father and Mother. They have been one of the pivotal reasons behind the completion of this arduous task. My heartfelt thanks to my sister Dr. Navjot Kaur who would wake up for hours to read and re-read the drafts of my thesis. I am also thankful to my brother Jaideep Singh and my brother-in law, Manbir Singh for their constant support and helping me out whenever needed.

My sincere thanks are due to my friend Asha whose encouragement and efforts made me realize my goal. My special thanks to my uncle Sh. Iqbal Nath and Mr. Sanjiv Gupta, whose encouraging and stimulating words have always inspired me to ‘aspire and excel’ and Nadar, my niece, whose innocence has been a great motivation for me. My sincere thanks to Tajinder Singh, Dr. Zeenat Khan and Nosheen who helped me and encouraged me in various ways and also eased my anxieties.

Finally and most importantly I would like to thank my husband, Harpreet Singh and my family (in-laws), my sister-in-law Amanpreet Kaur for their continued support, love and faith in me which kept me buoyed, especially during the final stages of my PhD. My heartfelt thanks to Dr. Nisha Bhargava, Principal MCM DAV College for Women, Chandigarh for her constant support and encouragement in the accomplishment of this task. My words of thankfulness to all my friends, research fellows and colleagues, who are part of my life in a big or small way.

Manjot Kaur