ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This study has been completed under the supervision of able guidance of Dr. Akhtar Zaheer Rizvi, Professor and Ex-Chairman, Department of Economics, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh. It is really a matter of pride to work under such a great scholar. No words would suffice to express my deep sense of gratitude to him, because his invaluable guidance, valuable suggestions and encouragement at every stage of the work have enabled me to complete this thesis. He provided me the opportunity and liberty of encroaching upon his precious time and also allowed me to use his personal library. The training which I was provided by him during the course of study will continue to be a source of inspiration to me in my life. I feel proud in expressing my profound gratitude to him.

I am greatly obliged to Dr. Ashok Mittal who extended his helping hands whenever I faced any difficulty in the completion of this thesis.

I would also like to express my feeling of gratefulness to all of my teachers and staff of the Department who always encouraged me during the work.

I shall be failing in my duties if I forget to express my sense of gratitude to my parents (specially my mother Mrs. Halima Begum) and my brothers Danish, Asif, Suhail, Niyaz and my sisters Saba, Arshi, Farah, whose blessings have been a source of inspiration to me.

My thanks are also due to a number of my friends (specially Naseem sahib) who help me during the time of need.

Thanks is still due to Mr. Shakil Ahmad Khan for typing this thesis with full cooperation.

(NIGHAT PARVEEN)