ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

When an ambitious project like the Ph. D. thesis is at the threshold of final submission, seemingly known/unknown feelings both contentment and joy often treacherously elude out some important figures from the memory who have been otherwise so important through the crucial journey of research activities. At the most however, some figures whose recurrent encouragement, advice and deeply concerned dossiers till the completion are obtained to make this happen actually remain engraved never to be erased in a life time. So, at the very beginning, I must mention Prof. A.R. Parhi, the supervisor whose contingent encouragement, technical supports, guides, confidence and blessings upon me during the entire project will remain as memorable as anything in my life. I must not forget Prof. N. Nagaraju who led me to the alphabets of research pool at the initial days of Ph.D. Course Work and Synopsis period. Without his endeavours this project would have been just a day dream for me. When there is also someone to relieve you come out of a tight corner, then he/she always remains as reverend figure in the innermost corner of one’s heart. Prof. B. Nayak, HoD of the department, is that person who helped me get an escape from such situation towards the completion phase. Besides, he has been cordial enough to inspire and expedite my project within the timeline assigned to me. Again, Dr. Miazi Hazam, Dr. K. C. Mishra, Doyir Ete, Bompi Riba, and Dr. Shravani Biswas (ex-faculty) are very special as their friendly suggestions and resourceful discussions helped me to a great extent in my journey. My co-scholars Jitumoni, Doi and Mei will ever remain very dear to me for being great supporters and friends during the moments of hope, despair and important assignments as well. Moreover, Saurav Mitra, the dear junior brother & scholar of the department, is an unforgettable person, who has been a prompt responder to any of my appeals for help in the project. Again, Tenzing Medok and Tilak Chetry owe special credit as they are the persons who made my induction into this Ph.D. programme possible at the initial stage. I am also indebted to Dilip Pegu, Chungkrang family and Rupankar Bordoloi of North Lakhimpur for providing accommodation and everything.

Apart from the above mentioned respectable persons, I am greatly indebted to my dearest Bau and Ama who brought me to the world. Their deep concerns, relentless
