ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

God helps those who help themselves. I am deeply indebted to my Guide Dr. Manish A. Vyas of Arts and Commerce College Manavder Junagadh my Research supervisor, who has inspired me for completing the present research work. He has guided me for completing the research work and always treated me as a member of his family and his affection has relieved me of every psychological burden. There are six novels of Diaspora writers which are very complex to understand but the sharp insight and perfect guidance of Dr. Manish Vyas helped me to overcome all the problems. Further, I express my gratitude for honorable Dr. Chetan Trivedi the Head of the English Department at Junagadh. When I went to give PET Exams in Central University Gandhinagar there I came to know about the Diaspora Studies, there the professors elaborated me the Area of studies and I determined to pursue my research in Diaspora studies. I am thankful to Dr. Jagdish Joshi for his advice to select the women writers and Canadian Indian women writers. He had guided me to select women writers of USA who had been from India. Dr. Pranav Joshipura of Gandhinagar had explained me to pursue exhaustive reading over the trajectory of Diaspora literature. During my MPhil studies my Director Dr. Jagdish Joshi informed me about the Conference on Diaspora Studies at Vallabh vidyanagar. I attended it and became very much enthusiastic about the term Diaspora to unearth more in it. So I am interested to pursue it. I am very much thankful to my MPhil Studies Director Dr. Jagdish Joshi who had given me the chance to attend such an Important Conference. Directly and indirectly my research is the joint venture of many people. Dr. B.M.Gohel, the Head of Central Library of Bhavnagar University had always allowed me to access the use of library. A special thanks to them. My research is indebted to many people like office boy who helped me for printing and Xerox copies. Even thanks a lot to the men who helped me for spiral binding, cds, soft and hard copies formatting etc. I feel extremely gratified to Dr. Jaydeepsinh Dodiyasir the Din of Arts faculty, Saurashtra University. He had taken my Public-viva of my Doctoral research. He was very satisfied with my work. He appreciated my research work. I gave satisfactory answers to all questions in the Viva voce.

I am extremely grateful to my family. My husband Mehul and my daughter Iksha always co-operated me to pursue research. For this research, I continuously avoided all the outgoings in family functions as well as movies and fun. Thanks a lot they understand the importance of my career. In the same way many thanks to my dear sister Timra who boosted me positive energy constantly. My mother in law supported me to pursue my research career. She had always remained there to do almost all the household duties and even took care of my kid so actually she had been always there to alter my responsibilities. Thanks a lot to my Bapuji Ashwinikumar Bhatt the Professor of English Literature. He boosted confidence in me to do the incentive research anyhow. Of course my research work is because of my parents’ blessings, my belated father and my mother who is always careful about my health. My special thanks to my dear elder brothers Amarbhai and Ketanbhai. I am grateful to them. Amarbhai Acharya, my dear elder brother sent me forcefully to visit Rai University once. There I cleared the PET Exam and got the registration in PhD. Thank you the Rai University staffs and Experts helped me motivated me and guided me throughout the research journey. Still the journey is not over I need blessings of all above mentioned in my Post-Doctoral career in future. Thanks to all.
