ACKNOWLEDGMENT

First and foremost, I would like to thank God for His unseen presence, guidance and strength bestowed upon me, and most importantly for providing me with good health that enabled me to successfully complete my doctoral programme.

I would like to express profound indebtedness and sincere gratitude towards my respected supervisor Prof. Pramod Tandon for his benign guidance, untiring helpfulness, valuable comments and suggestions throughout my research period that has enabled me to complete without any setbacks. His continuous support, encouragement and motivation have been the source of inspiration which enabled me to complete my thesis.

I would also like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to Prof. Suman Khatri Kumaria, Joint-supervisor of my doctoral programme for her continuous support, valuable guidance and motivation throughout my research activity. I will be ever thankful to her for nurturing my confidence and for her untiring encouragement in every possible way, without which this investigation would not have reached its present stature.

I am indebted to my supervisors for having faith in me and allowing me to work on this subject with unlimited and constant help on all aspects necessary for the successful completion of my doctoral programme. My sincere appreciation also goes to Dr. Meera Chettri Das for her constant support and help.

I would sincerely like to thank Prof. S. K. Barik, the present Head of Department, Botany, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, Prof. M. S. Dkhar and Prof. N. Venugopal former HOD, for providing me with the necessary facilities for accomplishing my work. I am also grateful to all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the department for extending their kind help.
I owe my sincere thanks to Dr. Devendra Kumar Biswal, Co-
Coordinator, Bioinformatics centre, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, for the valuable suggestions made on the synopsis prepared for registration to the doctoral programme. He emphasizes on the importance of studying the carnivorous plants in Meghalaya. His systematic guidance, whole-hearted cooperation and support from beginning till the end, enabled me in carrying out and completing this research. His erudition and rich experience shaped the course of the research and sharpened its outcome.

I am highly indebted to Mr. Manish Deb Nath, Bioinformatics centre, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong, for his help and support.

Furthermore, I would like to express my gratitude to Dr. N.
Odyuo, Scientist-D, Botanical Survey of India, Shillong, for providing me with all the necessary information regarding the carnivorous plants in Meghalaya and also in identifying the various plant species.

I acknowledge the University Grants Commission for awarding me the Rajiv Gandhi National Fellowship.

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my seniors Dr.
Aseli, Dr. Jeremy, Dr. Shivei, Dr. Purnima and Ladap and my friends Sangeeta, Jean, Reema, Devika for their selfless co-operation, suggestions, support and helping me in all possible ways throughout my research work.

I would like to express my warmest gratitude to all my friends, labmates and staff members of the Plant Biotechnology Laboratory, North Eastern Hill University, Shillong for their necessary help and cooperation. I am indebted to the staff of Bioinformatics Centre, North Eastern Hill University, Shillong for their necessary help.
My heartfelt gratitude goes to Yantsu, Lianí, Silme, Chipem, Teresa, Gangu and Saikiné for their untiring encouragement and loving support. Thank you for being there and standing behind me.

Immense encouragement, penetrating suggestion and keen interest of my family members and relatives in my research period deserves such applause and gratitude for which I may never find words to describe. Words simply fail to express my heartfelt gratitude to my parents for their prayers, patience, unconditional support, care, concern and endearment without which my academic pursuit and person I am today would have remained a myth. I cannot repay them back, but will remain indebted forever. This work is dedicated to you all.
