Acknowledgements

Undertaking this Ph.D. thesis has been truly an enriching experience for me and it would not have been completed without the support and guidance that I received from many people. I wish to sincerely thank all those who have in some way or the other contributed to my Ph.D. thesis.

First and foremost I would like to express my special appreciation and gratitude towards my supervisor, Professor Rachana Chakraborty, Department of History, Calcutta University. This dissertation would not have been achievable without her meticulous care, fruitful comments and insightful suggestions. I am especially thankful to the Ph.D. committee members, of the Women Studies Research Centre, University of Calcutta, Dr. Ishita Mukhopadhyay, Dr. Sanjukta Dasgupta and Dr. Lipi Ghosh for their positive remarks and suggestions during my defence seminar. I am indebted to Professor Bhaskar Chakraborti, Department of History, Calcutta University for introducing me to my supervisor. My sincere thanks also go out to Professor Nirban Basu, Department of History, Calcutta University, for his suggestions and for lending me one of his articles that was relevant to my work. I also express my gratitude to the Director of School of Women Studies, Jadavpur University, Professor Samita Sen, for kindly allowing me to use the Departmental Library. I express my special thanks to Mrs. Kasturi Gupta Menon and Mrs. Yeasmin Sengupta who readily provided me with the necessary information and photographs from their private collections. The members of Karma Kutir in Kolkata have immensely helped me in collecting some relevant photographs.

This thesis would not have taken its present shape without the assistance and co-operation extended by the staff of different libraries. I am particularly grateful to the staff and transcript division of the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, New Delhi, who were more than helpful in providing me with the relevant documents within a short period. The staff of the Annexe section of National Library, Kolkata met all my requirements ungrudgingly. I express my sincere thanks to the Newspaper section of National Library, Kolkata for providing me with copies of old newspapers. The staff of West Bengal State Archives was extremely helpful and provided me a nice ambience to work for long hours. The members of West Bengal Police Archive were extremely courteous and gladly provided me with the necessary files. My sincere thanks also go out to the staff of Mujaffar Ahmed Library, Kolkata for enabling me to consult old newspapers. I also express my gratitude to the staff of the Departmental Library of School of Women Studies, Jadavpur University and Ramkrishna Mission, Golpark, Kolkata.

On the personal front I am thankful to my husband for constantly pushing me to finish my research on time. My two kids kept themselves engaged when I was too immersed in my project. Last but not the least; words cannot express the feelings I have for my late parents, especially my mother who used to take keen interest in my work. Without their unflinching support at every step I would not have progressed so far. It would remain a life-long regret that they could not see the completion of my thesis. I, therefore, humbly dedicate my thesis to their memory.