NOWLEDGEMENTS

The thesis The Political Historiography of the ‘Quit India’ Movement in the District of Nadia is really a fruit of a sincere desire to know the political history of India’s struggle for freedom in greater detail. In fact, it is in this work that I have sought to fulfill the very desire of my mind. Here in this work I have earnestly tried to delineate the history of the politics of the ‘Quit India’ movement in 1942 specifically in the district of Nadia of the-then Bengal. In this very work I have had valuable suggestions, generous help, noble inspiration and effective guidance from several quarters to all of which I do sincerely express my deepest sense of reverence and gratitude.

In this direction, I do first owe a great deal of indebtedness to my late parents who had actually created the desire in my mind to know, in detail, the political history of our heroic struggle for freedom. Really Speaking, the heroism of our freedom fighters they used to narrate to me in my boyhood had added an extra attraction to know the very history in depth. I am thus really grateful to them.

I do also express my deepest sense of gratitude to my late Father-in-law and my Mother-in-law, who had very affectionately inspired me to carry on the research work and to complete it. I am really indebted to them.
I am sincerely grateful to my Supervisor Dr. Prabir Kumar De, Professor, Department of Political Science, Kalyani University, Kalyani, Nadia, West Bengal, for his generous guidance and untiring help. On several points of this work, the clarifications made by him, I do gratefully acknowledge, were a treat indeed. I do also gratefully acknowledge that the suggestions on some points made by him helped me a lot improve and enrich the work. I do also recall with great pleasure the gleanings I have made from the illuminating discussions I had with him. He had, in fact, clearly opened up a new vista of the historiography of politics of our national freedom movement and thereby enthused me a great deal to work on it. I do once again express my sincere indebtedness to him.

I am also indebted to all my teachers of the Department of Political Science of Kalyani University, Kalyani, Nadia, W.B., namely Prof. Sumit Mukherjee, Malyasree Mukherjee, Dr. Ayub Mallick, Dr. Shiladitya Chakraborty, Sri Pratip Chakraborty, Sri Anindya Batabyal and Nibedita Saha for their liberal help and noble encouragement. I do also gratefully remember the inspiring classes they had taken at the time of our Course-Work Study of the Ph.D. Programme. I am really indebted to them.

I do express my heartiest gratitude to my teacher late Dr. Buddhadeva Bhattacharyya, S.N.Banerjee Professor of the Department of Political Science, Calcutta University, Calcutta, W.B. He had very affectionately inculcated in me the desire to know the political history of our struggle for freedom. I am really indebted to him.

I do also express my heartiest gratitude to all of my teachers from K.G. to P.G. levels who had injected in me the sense of patriotism and the love for the Mother India. In fact, it is this very sense of patriotism they had inculcated in me that had inspired me a lot to work on the freedom movement of India. I am sincerely grateful to them.

I am specially indebted to the veterans of the ‘Quit India’ movement in the district of Nadia who were Kind enough to take the trouble of recollecting their experiences and narrating them (and writing them in the cases of mail interviews) to me. It was a glowing experience on my own part to listen to them. The description of their experience regarding the movement as well as their narration of it had helped me a lot give a final shape of the work. I am sincerely grateful to them. It was really a more astonishing experience that some of them, namely, Smarajit Bandyopadhyay, Shibaram Gupta, Monaranjan Sen, Fazlur Rahaman, Nitai Paul and Bimal Kumar Chatterjee had supplied me even with the certified copies of the report of their imprisonment during the period of the ‘Quit India’ movement. I do thus owe a real debt to all of them. I do also express my deepest sense of gratitude especially to Manoranj Sen, a freedom fighter of Nadia, who made available to me his personal files of different dailies of the pre-independence period. I am really indebted to him.

I am also indebted to Debi Prasad Mallick for providing me with two highly necessary books, namely, 1) Swadhinata Sangrame Nadia and 2) Nadia Kahini (both in Bengali) respectively. These books had enriched me by supplying me with the preliminary information regarding the present work.

I do also extend my grateful thanks to the Centre for Studies in Social Science Research, Calcutta, (CSSSRC) for providing me with different Seminar Papers on the ‘Quit India’ movement. In this regard the National Library, Calcutta, the Central Libraries of Calcutta University and Kalyani University and the Public Library of Ranaghat, Nadia, also deserve my heartfelt thanks for supplying me with necessary source materials.

I am also grateful to Sri Nirmalya Majumder, Dr. Debasis Nandy, Sri Bimalendu Ghosh, Sri Biswajit Sarkar, Dr. Sudipta Chakraborty, Dr. Somnath Sarkar, Dr. Pradip Biswas, Dr. Sitaram Paul, Dr. Shuvabrata Dey, Dr. Indrajit Halder, Dr. Nirbhik Chatterjee, all being the teachers of Kanchrapara College, Kanchrapara, 24 Parganas (N), W.B., for their mental help and effusive inspiration. I express my sincere gratitude to all of them.
I am also grateful to Srabani Ghosh, Associate Professor, Kalyani Mahavidyalaya, Kalayani, Nadia, W.B., for her mental inspiration and psychological support. She has always enthused me to carry on my work with smiling face. I am really indebted to her.

I do also express my sincerest sense of gratitude to my wife Smt. Aripita Sarkar and my son Sri Debarka Sarkar. I do glaringly recall the inspiration and encouragement they had given to me. It is, in fact, due to their provocative inspiration that I have at last been able to complete the work. I do once again express my sense of indebtedness to them.

I do also express my gratitude to Sri Pratha Pratim Sarkar and Sri Prabhash Biswas of Info.Com, a Computer Training Center, Ranaghat, Nadia, to help me a lot in typing the whole of the research work within a very short period of time. I am really grateful to them.

In fine, I like to express my gratitude to all of them who had directly or indirectly helped me carry on my study and complete the work. I am really indebted to them.

Kalyan Kumar Sarkar
