SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

PRIMARY SOURCES:

------------------ Lord of the Files. London: Faber and Faber 1954
------------------ The Spire. London: Faber and Faber 1954
------------------ Darkness Visible. London: Faber and Faber 1982
------------------ A Moving Target. London: Faber and Faber 1982
------------------ Free fall. Harcourt, 1960
------------------ The Pyramid. London: Faber 1982
------------------ The Scorpion God. Three Short Novels, Harcourt, 1971
SECONDARY SOURCES:

Atlantic publishes and distributors, 1994.

Kulkarni, Pralhad A. William Golding: a Critical study. New Delhi:

Livingstone, James C. Commentary on William Golding’s the spire.

William Golding: A Moving Target, p.163
ARTICLES PUBLISHED IN JOURNALS

Bufkin, E.C. "The Ironic art of William Golding’s The Inheritors"
Taxes studies in Literature and Languages, 9 (Winter):
John Petor, the Fables of William Golding, The Kenyon Review,
Kenneth Rexroth, William Golding, Unoriginal Sin the Atlantic
Mitchell, Juliet. “Concept and technique in William Golding”, New Pandey, Shiva M. “Lord of the Files William Golding’s Dystopian vision of the Basic Human condition”. The Indian journal of British Literature. 1975-76.
Thumboo, Edwin “Golding’s Lord of the Files: Topography, character and Theme’ the literary Criterion. 1978.
1965, p.34.
William Golding. “The Writer in his age” in reply to a questionnaire by London magazine published IV (May, 1957), p.4
Wilson, angus. “Evil in the English Novel” Kenyan Review. March, 1976.
Young, Wayland "Latter from London". Kenyan Review, summer, 1957.