Acknowledgement

It would not have been possible to write this doctoral thesis without the help and support of the kind people around me, to only some of whom it is possible to give particular mention here. Above all, I would like to thank my father Mr. Yogesh Varma for his continuous moral support and patience which had been a constant source of motivation in completion of my present work. My sister Mrs. Sangya Nigam who had been the beacon of inspiration and support encouraged me and provided valuable guidance during the most critical phase of starting with this research work. This thesis would not have been possible without the help, support and guidance of my supervisor, Prof. Alok Srivastava, not to mention his advice and unsurpassed knowledge. I would like to thank Mrs. Neelam Srivastava who had continuously motivated me during this period. The virtuous advice, support and guidance of Dr. Kamlesh Paliwal, Assistant Professor at Department of Commerce & Business Administration had been invaluable for which I am extremely grateful.

I thank the Department of Commerce & Business Administration for their support and assistance, especially our head of department, Prof. J. N.
Mishra. I would like to thank Prof. J. N. Bhargava Convener of Doctoral Programme Committee who had constantly guided with his valuable suggestions and recommendations at each stage. I duly acknowledge the generosity and encouragement of Dr. R. K. Singh, Assistant Professor of our department to accomplish this study. I am also thankful to Mr. Neeraj Verma for his kind support. The library facilities and assistance of Mr. G.K. Rao (Librarian) at Department of Commerce & Business Administration, University of Allahabad, have been indispensable.

I am grateful for the support and guidance provided by Mr. Vivek Saran, Director, U.P. Stock Exchange Limited, during the phase of data collection.

Last, but by no means least, I thank my bua and my brother Anupam who have given me their unequivocal support throughout, as always, for which my mere expression of thanks likewise does not suffice.

For any errors or inadequacies that may remain in this work, the responsibility is entirely my own.

Date: 15th September, 2013. (Anubhav Verma)