Acknowledgements

A person finishes many things in life to fulfill his dream. It is often then good to look back in time and say a word of thanks and gratitude to all those who have supported him or her to achieve the goal.

First and foremost, no words can adequately express the respect and gratitude I feel towards my supervisor, Professor Inderjeet Singh, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala. I am immensely indebted to him for his open-hearted acceptance to allow me to work under him. His unlimited support, his boundless patience, his relentless dedication towards his work, his untiring search for perfection even at this juncture of his life and his never-say-die attitude has always inspired me and guided me to strive for better. He has always been approachable and friendly. His dedication towards his work has significantly influenced my professional philosophy. So, I think, he aptly fits into the phrase, 'A friend, philosopher and guide', for me.

I am also thankful to all the members of the faculty, Department of Economics, Punjabi University, Patiala for incitement, guidance and affectionate attitude during the discussions at various formal and informal meetings.

Mere words of acknowledgement will never convey my sense of appreciation for my family members: father Sh. Ved Parkash, mother Smt. Usha Rani, brothers Varinder and Sonu, sisters Bindu and Nancy, Father-in-law Sh. Satpaul Garg and Mother-in-law Mrs. Anita Garg for their enduring presence, ceaseless inspiration and never ending encouragement that guided me to achieve the success at every step in life. It was their constant faith in me that helped me face all the challenges with self-confidence.

At the personal level, first and foremost I wish to thank my wife, Mrs. Upasna Garg, who has always stood by me like a pillar of strength for letting me go off from home at odd hours during the tenure of my work so that I could concentrate fully in completing the thesis. Her unlimited patience and beyond the comfort assistance has made this work possible. In my view, all my words of gratitude fall short of the respect and love she deserves.
I would be missing if I don't express my sentiments for my gorgeous son Nishchay Garg without whose latent support and prolonged patience, this work could not have been completed.

I would like to thank CA Monty Garg for extending his kind help by sparing his precious time in editing this work.

I am also indebted to all those who have contributed in some way or other, in shaping up of this work. I would also like to thank Dr. Parmod Aggarwal, Dr. Ravi Singla, Dr. Amit Mittal, Dr. Dharminder, Dr. Kulwinder Singh, Sunish Aggarwal and Vicky Bansal, who have relentlessly worked from behind the scene.

Last but not the least; I express sincere gratitude to ICSSR for providing financial assistance to me in the form of research fellowship.

At the end, I would like to thank the God for bestowing his choicest blessings on me without which I would not have even thought of initiating the task of thesis and taking to its logical end.
