ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research on "Social Change among the Moyon Tribe of Manipur" has brought me close to several people, organisations and institutions. They have been extremely helpful in the process of research. Although it is almost impossible to mention every person's name, I place on record my sincere gratitude and thanks to some without whose help, support and encouragement I could not have completed this research.

I am deeply indebted to all the village chiefs, elders and leaders of different organizations who willingly cooperated with me during my field study, case studies, interviews, interactions, observations, verifications, field experiences, photo sessions, material collections and literature review. Sincere thanks are also due to the people of the Moyon community in general and informants in particular, for the help and cooperation they have extended throughout my field work. They have spared many hours of their valuable time and generously placed at my disposal their vast store of information, day-to-day experiences and ideas.

My heartfelt thanks go to R. Jindashing, Ch. Aileen, Ch. Michael, Dr. Gina Shangkham, R. Philip Moyon, N. Shongshir and Dr. Donald Kosha who provided me with valuable information relevant to my research. I thank them for clarifying my doubts and queries whenever I approached them directly or contacted them over the phone. My deep gratitude goes to Dr. Gina Shangkham who corrected the local terms and words.

My sincere thanks go to Fr. (Dr.) Victor Arulappan, Parish Priest of St. Peter's, Chandel, who reviewed the first draft of my thesis and gave me his valuable suggestions and observations. I am very grateful to Fr. George Malayil, former Parish Priest of St. Peter's, Chandel, who willingly helped me by providing me with a vehicle and by providing guides whenever I needed during my field study.

My gratitude goes to Fr. (Dr.) R.K. Nicholas Guangdiat SDB, Principal of Don Bosco College, Itanagar, for the adjustments he made in balancing my teaching and my research work. He also reviewed my thesis and gave me his valuable observations for the improvement of my thesis. My heartfelt gratitude goes to Fr.
Devassy Palatty SDB, for his valuable observations and constant encouragement in my research. My heartfelt thanks go to Professor Alphonsus D’Souza, Senior Fellow, North Easter Social Research Centre, Guwahati, for the final proof reading and for his relevant observations.

I like to express my indebtedness to Sr. Teresa Puthenpurakel FMA, my former Provincial, who inspired me to do Ph. D. and to Sr. Elizabeth George FMA, the present Provincial, who encouraged me to complete my studies. I thank all the Superiors and Sisters of the community at Auxilium College Hostel in Itanagar and of my present community at Auxilium Provincial House in Guwahati for their support, understanding and good wishes as I was busy with my research. There are also many friends and well wishers, especially those who have completed their doctoral studies in recent years, who inspired, supported and encouraged me to carry on despite all the trying circumstances and to complete this research.

I like to express my humble regards to Professor Tamo Mibang, Vice-Chancellor of Rajiv Gandhi University, Itanagar, and former Director of A.I.T.S for admitting me into the Department and who willingly helped me to proceed with his direction and guidance. I like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. S. Simon John and his team of staff at A.I.T.S and Dr. Soubhagya Ranjan Padhi for their valuable guidance and suggestions for the improvement of my thesis during the pre-submission seminar.

Above all my sincere thanks go to my supervisor, Dr. Vokendro Haobijam S., Associate Professor, Department of Anthropology, Rajiv Gandhi University, Itanagar for his sustained interest, regular supervision and constructive criticism throughout the process of research.
