ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is the outcome of the contributions of many people in varied forms which deserved to be acknowledged.

First and foremost, I would like to thank the almighty God for giving me the opportunity to join Ph.D programme in the Department of Linguistics, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong. Every step of my research work would not have been possible had it not been for the timely help of God. I had felt His unseen hands working on me in various stages of my research work. He indeed is my strength. I gave all the glory and honour to Him alone for His excellent guidance, amazing love and wonderful protection throughout the course of my research.

I express my gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Umarani Pappuswamy, for giving me this opportunity to pursue research on Tedim Chin under her able guidance. Her influential work, discipline, commitment and never-failing efforts towards keeping this thesis in the best shape, have always motivated me in the entire period of my research to gain better understanding of the Tibeto-Burman linguistics and sharpened my analysis of Tedim Chin linguistic structures. I am tremendously grateful for her steady guidance and support especially for providing me with the necessary feedback on various drafts of all the chapters without which this thesis would not have been possible to reach its final form. All mistakes and inadequacies are, needless to say, my own.

I take this opportunity to thank the University Grants Commission (UGC) for granting me financial assistance through Junior Research Fellowship (JRF) and Senior Research Fellowship (SRF) for carrying out my research work. These fellowships enabled me to conduct my fieldtrips, acquire the necessary linguistic resources and complete my research work successfully.

I express my sincere thanks to Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR-NERC) for providing Library grant to visit and get access to the following libraries in India: Deccan College library (Pune), The English and Foreign Languages University library (Hyderabad), University of Hyderabad library (Hyderabad), Central Institute of Indian Languages library (Mysore). The English and Foreign Languages University (Shillong) and North-Eastern Hill University (Shillong) libraries were also instrumental in procuring some of the important materials used for this research. My sincere thanks goes to all of them.

I am very thankful to my main informants who had provided linguistic data for Tedim which is the backbone for this research: Vung Khaw Cing, Zen Khan Vung, Man Lian Niang, Cing Khan Dim, Gin Suan Thang, Suan Lian Piang, Thang Sian Mung. Data are also gathered from other informants and other sources on various aspects of linguistics according to the need of the work.

I am thankful to both the members of the Tedim Chin Literature Society (TCLS) and Zomi Languages and Linguistics Society (ZOLLS) and particularly to the Secretary (ZOLLS), Sia Dal Sian Pau, for having shown interest in my work and for being supportive towards its completion. I also express my gratitude to Rev. Khoi Lam Thang, the General Secretary of the Bible Society of Myanmar for helping me in many ways. Thanks are also due to Kosei Otsuka and Tyler Davis for providing me good linguistic resources.

I am also grateful to Prof. B.K Agarawal, Dean, School of Humanities for taking care of all the formal procedures in his office. I also thank the teaching faculties of the Department of Linguistics who had inculcated in me the basic foundations of linguistics for four semesters in MA and also extended their help in many ways throughout my research; the Head of Department, Prof. Shailendra K. Singh, the other teachers Dr. Saralin A. Lyngdoh, Dr. Barika Khyriem and Dr. Bijoy L. Dhanwar. I am also grateful to the non-teaching staffs of the department for their co-operation and assistance in every possible way; Ms. R. Nongkynrih, Ms. Wanbha Mary Kharpuri, Mrs. Atiar Khyriemmujat and Mr. B. Surong.

I convey my gratitude to all my friends with whom I had shared much of the time and had time to time academic discussions during my research. I also thank them for their friendship and endless support they had extended throughout my research. They are my source of inspiration whenever I needed them: Egira Shadap, for all the technical and non-technical help which is deeply appreciated (and not to forget, my best eating partner though); Samhita Bharadwaj, for the walk we used to take around the hostel and within the campus and for all the important and not so important linguistic and non-linguistic talks we had; Vidyarati Joshi, my classmate and a great friend in research. She had also helped me out in many issues; Monali Longmailai, for the thought-provoking discussions on various aspects of linguistics specifically on Bodo-Garo and Kuki-Chin languages; Triksi Sangma, for being supportive throughout my research journey; Kim Suantak, for the concern and the various help that she had rendered to me in many ways; Susmita Bhattacharjee, for helping me out with the maps and other technical issues; Awele, Venial, Ying, Monica, Francis, Sansuma and Avid for being my good friends.

I express my gratitude to the past and present students and research scholars in the Department of Linguistics, North-Eastern Hill University, Shillong who had ever helped or inspired me in some way or the other during my research. To all my well-wishers, both linguist and non-linguist friends, who have always extended their support through prayer and encouraging words and also for always believing in me.....and also to those experts and participants in various seminars, workshops or conferences that I have ever attended for the constructive feedback on my papers. These have shaped my conceptual understanding and analysis of my work in several ways.

My sincere thanks goes to all my hostel friends for all the memories that were created together in various ways to cherish for lifelong. I also take the opportunity to thank my two roommates Imnarenla Aier (Sensiar-A, Room No.15) and Trune Ngakhainii Pao (Balgito-B, Room No.4), who are more of a family than friends to me: for understanding me despite my imperfections during my entire period of research and also for the constant support that they had extended to me in good and bad times.

Lastly but more importantly, my special thanks goes to my family and relatives for their numerous contributions; my father Nok Swan Lian, who is an inspiration to me in many ways and for being constantly supportive throughout my studies till his last breath in December 2011; he had never hold back anything towards his children’s education; my mother Zen Khan Vung for always being with my father in words and deeds and for her unceasing love, tolerance and prayer; my brothers, U Mang, U Pau, U Lun, U Lang, U Mung and U Khup, for their love, financial, moral and emotional support and academic advices; my sister-in-laws, my nieces and nephews, my aunts and their families- Ni Cing and Ni Man and her husband Uncle T.K Muana; for providing me assistance in innumerable ways during my research.
