ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A sense of exhilaration, accomplishment and complete satisfaction runs through my body as I submit this thesis for the award of PhD from Bangalore University, since my cherished dream has come true. At the conclusion of what has been a mammoth endeavour, it is but natural that I would like to thank everyone for the generous help that I received from various quarters in completion of the thesis.

Firstly I would like to thank my accomplished research guide and the luminary in the field of Commerce, whom I regard as my mentor and philosopher Dr. B.C. Sanjeevaiah former Professor, and Chairman, Department of Commerce, Bangalore University, Bangalore, who guided me in many more ways than one and helped me a lot to complete the thesis. His constant words of advice and encouragement strengthened me to complete the research programme in a comprehensive and meaningful manner.

I sincerely extend my wholehearted thanks to Dr. M. Muniraju Dean and Chairman, Department of Commerce, Bangalore University, Bangalore for his words of encouragement and appreciation to complete the research work.

I owe a very deep debt of gratitude to Dr. M. Ramachandra Gowda Dr. K. Eresi former Dean and Chair Persons, Dr. M. Muninarayanappa Dr. K. Nirmala, Associate Professor of the Department of Commerce for their kind support and advice in adding value to this research thesis.

I would like to convey my wholehearted thanks to Dr. D. K. Murthy, my M.Phil guide and a great Researcher for his constant advice in adding qualitative and meaningful data to this thesis.

Dr. K. Ramachandra Associate Professor and the Co-ordinator of PG Courses in my department, a treasure of research mindset and a great believer in sharing rich and valuable research and spiritual knowledge for all the stakeholders, is a great source of inspiration and encouragement to me in all along the journey of this research work. His untiring contribution in all dimensions may not be expressed in words, hence I completely indebted for all that he has done for me in completing this research programme forever.

I sincerely thank and convey my heartfelt gratitude to my sample public sector, private sector and foreign banks respondents' top-level management officers, bank managers, bank staffs, principals of staff training colleges of respective sample banks and other learned persons who provided me the fruitful and useful data to complete this research programme in a much-more meaningful way.

I earnestly grateful to Prof.K.Ravikumar my former Principal, Joint-director and a well-wisher for all his blessings and words of encouragement in shaping this research work. I would like to convey my heartfelt thanks to all my former Principals Dr.R.Komala, Prof.Kanakalakshmi, Dr.T.V.Nagaraja and all the heads of the department, fellow colleagues of Maharani College for their blessings and words of appreciation in all the way of research programme.

As proverb states that, 'Friend in need is a friend indeed', words are insufficient to express my great sense of gratitude and heartfelt to thanks my friends cum colleagues Dr.Ajaj Ahmed Khan Associate Professor and MBA Coordinator, Government R.C.College, Bangalore, Dr.M.Jayappa, Principal , RBANMS College, Bangalore, Chaluvaiah, Asistant Professor, Government Women's College Mandya, Mysore University and my Childhood friend Shanthakumar.H.M for their tireless help and invaluable contribution to complete my research work.

I also owe my deep of sense of gratitude to the Administrative Staff of the Department of Commerce and PhD section staff of Bangalore University for their help and timely co-operation in the journey of this research programme.
I am greatly indebted to my late parents who took all the pain they took and the sacrifice they made to make me into a literate human-being. I should thank my beloved wife Smt.R.Pramila, who has alone borne all the pressure of her profession and family and also has given me with both moral and emotional support during this research period. I would specially like to acknowledge the cheerful support of my son Suhas.E.P and my daughter Sinchana.E.P who have sacrificed their sleepless hours during the tenure of this research programme. I also thank all my in-laws, relatives, friends, near and dear-ones and all well-wishers for their encouragement and support extended generously to me during this endeavour.

Finally, I also seek the blessings of the Almighty for endowing me with abundant strength and courage for completing this research work successfully in hassle free manner by guiding my inner voice and in repaying to the society whatever I have received from it.

Bangalore
September 2016

(Eswarappa.M)
Research Scholar