ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Firstly, I praise and thank the Almighty for his blessings and grace that was showered on me in abundance and that enriched me throughout this study. Without him and the constant support and prayers from Apos. D. Asirvatham, other pastors and elders of Athmanesar Church, Thanjavur, Tamil Nadu and Karnataka this award of degree would have not been possible.

It is my privilege, pleasure and honour to have Dr. C.G.Venkatesha Murthy, Dean Research, Professor & Head, Department of Extension Education, Regional Institute of Education, ManasaGangotri, Mysore - 570006 as my research guide. I owe my heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks for his consent, perseverance, patience, perfection, powerful words in appreciation and instantly sharing the experience of correction. I further admire in his guidance the untiring receptiveness, assertiveness, constant efforts with follow-up, the communications including non-verbal directions that make the student to initiate and proceed forward with efforts to complete the work that helped me to lay strong foundation in my journey of intellectual relationship.

Specially, I convey my profound thanks to The Vice Chancellor, The Chairman, Faculty of Department of Psychology, University of Mysore, and The Chairman, Board of Studies for giving an opportunity to permit me to carry out the research work as an interdisciplinary candidate. I also thank the panel of experts in the doctoral committee from the department for the encouragement and empowerment. I wish to express my special and sincere thanks to an eminent and potential faculty Dr. Lancy D’Souza, for his professional support during the statistical analysis.
I am greatly indebted to thank the participants, Hospitals, Panel of Experts including neuro-physicians, Clinical psychologists, and related personnel who validated the tool and content related to the intervention and, other resource people who contributed by lending helping minds to bridge and mould the various activities of the research work like identifying and locating participants, purchase of biofeedback and its training, IT works and editors involved in the journals publication, etc.

I acknowledge my sincere thanks to Mrs. Leema, Mr. Padma Raj, Mr. Shiju, Mrs. Thushara Thomas, Mrs. Ramu Devi, Mrs. Manju Thomas, Mrs. Manju, Mrs. Deena, Mrs. Nithya, Mrs. Ann Mary, Mr. Somanna, Dr. Shuba, Dr. Mohan Das, Dr. Lijo, Dr. ArthiBhel, Dr. Marutham, Dr. Raghunathan Gupta, Dr. SomathVasudev and also to Mrs. Thenmozhi, Mrs. Saranya, Mr. Divakaran, Ms. Seema and Mr. Kiran those who co-ordinated and spared their efforts in validation, data collection and computerization for my work.

I place my acknowledgments and thank my fellow research scholars, friends, colleagues who were always imperative in discussing the pros and cons, involving in constructive criticism towards the successful completion of my work.

I thank my whole family, especially my parents with a humble bow to my beloved fatherLate. Mr. G. Kaliyaperumal, Retired Foreman, Neyveli Lignite Corporation (NLC), Tamil Nadu who motivated me even after deceased with Alzheimer’s and Mrs. Maruthambal, my mother who rendered diligent effort in rearing my kids in my absence and bestowed me utmost care with unconditional and unidirectional love.
I extend my sincere gratitude to my sister’s family Dr. Dhanalakshmi, K., Prof. National Institute of Technology, Tiruchirapalli, T.Nadu and Dr.Gunashekar, R. Asst Director, Dept. of art and Culture, Tiruchirapalli, Govt of T. Nadu, D. G. Yazhini, M.Sc. Engg (Germany) and D. G. Iniyan (B.E) who always wished me to be valued as I am today, crowned me with unexceptional love and motivation. I thankMrs. ChandrammaSwamy, Retired LHV, Karnataka, my mother-in-law and Mrs. Pushpalatha, sister-in-law for their earnest support.

I am extremely happy to record my feeling with emotions for the unfailing love, enthusiasm, understanding showered to me by the members of my family Mr. S. Mohan Raju, M. Sc (N), Principal, my husband, Esther KrupaRaju, 5th std, my daughter and Sam Daniel Raju, 2nd std, my son who had a sense to uplift and uphold me in my endeavour by withstanding the ups and downs, joys and tensions throughout the successful completion of this dissertation work.

This thesis is dedicated in loving memory of my late father Mr. G. Kaliyaperumal

K. Vijayalakshmi