CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS I

ABSTRACT III

INTRODUCTION 1

CHAPTER ONE

The Aesthetics of Disturbance: War in Slaughterhouse Five and Mother Night 15

1.1 The Historicity of War 16

1.2 War Narratives 22

1.3 War and Trauma 30

1.4 The Aesthetics of Disturbance 41

1.4.1 War as Represented in Slaughterhouse Five 41

1.4.2 War as Represented in Mother Night 55

CHAPTER TWO

‘USTOPIA’: Time, Space, and Science Fiction in Player Piano, The Sirens of Titan and Cat’s Cradle 64

2.1 Defining Science Fiction – Charting the History 65

2.2 Science Fiction on the Pluro-Genric Trajectory 74

2.3 The Mechanized World of Player Piano 80

2.4 Slipstream and The Sirens of Titan 89
CHAPTER THREE

Forever Pursuing Genesis: The Use of Myths in Kurt Vonnegut’s Slapstick and Galápagos

3.1 Poetics of Myth

3.2 Remythification: Philosophy and the Study of Cultures

3.3 Myths in the Realm of Literary Criticism

3.4 Myths and Literature – Expression and Representation

3.5 The Use of Myths in Kurt Vonnegut

3.6 Slapstick: The Pursuit of Knowledge and the Fall

3.7 The Reverse Mythic Chronology of Galápagos

CHAPTER FOUR

The Insanity of Our Times: The Fragmented Vonnegut Man

4.1 The Fragmented Soul

4.2 The Insane in the Sane World: A Chronological Survey of Vonnegut’s Works

4.3 Slapstick and Galápagos: Resolutions in the Mad World