Acknowledgement

To Dr. M.S. Siddiqui of Economics Department of Badri Vishal (P.G.) College, Farrukhabad (Kanpur University), the author owes more than words can record. I have constantly drawn on his vast scholarship, life long experience of academic life and fruitful guidance which helped me complete the work. He is a constant source of inspiration to me. In deep reverence and utter humility, I express my gratitude to him.

I again take this opportunity to thank all individuals, associations and other organisation who helped me in this endeavour. I must also express my deep gratitude to my parents for their continuous encouragement. I also wish to record my thanks to my husband Shri Rakesh Pandey for his continuous help. Without his sincere help the work would have not been completed. I must express my deep gratitude to Mr. S.N. Singh, Principal of K.V. Manauri, Allahabad, where I am employed at present. He has been inspiring me to complete Ph. D. from the beginning and my father-in-law Mr. Amar Nath Pandey has also blessed me to complete the work. His 'Asierbad' helped me to overcome many difficulties in the process of writing this thesis. In utter humility, I pay my 'Pranam' to him. I am also deeply indebted to Mrs. Razia Siddiqui, who has been a source of inspiration throughout this endeavour. I also remember with gratitude the affection of Shri Mohd. Sabbir Hasan, reverent father of my Guruji, affectionate thanks are also due to my brothers and sisters for helping me in this project. Finally I thank Mr. Kali Charan Rai for typing the thesis with most care and responsibilities.
