IV Chapter Scheme

1. International Trinity and Its Components – A Clashing Trio of Macroeconomic Objectives, I-22
   1.1 International Trinity Choices; 2
      1.1.1 Monetary Policy Framework; 4
      1.1.2 Exchange Rate Framework; 7
      1.1.3 Capital Account Openness; 12
   1.2. Role of International Reserves in Trinity Solutions: An International Quadrelimma; 16
   1.3 Trilemma/Quadrelimma Choices & Macroeconomic Stability: Concluding Remarks; 20

2. Theoretical and Empirical Underpinnings of International Trinity Hypothesis, 23-56
   2.1 Theoretical Framework of International Trinity Hypothesis; 23
   2.2 Survey of Empirical Literature on Trinity Hypothesis; 40
      2.2.1 Trinity hypothesis vis-a-vis Any One Dimension of Trinity Hypothesis; 40
      2.2.2 Role of International Reserves in Working of International Trinity Hypothesis; 49
      2.2.3 Role of International Trinity Choices in Macroeconomic Stability of an Economy; 51
   2.3 Significance of the Study: Objectives and Hypotheses; 54

   3.1 Measurement of the variables; 58
   3.2 Construction of Trinity Indices; 59
   3.3 Methodological Framework; 60
      3.3.1 Methods for Unit Root Testing; 61
         3.3.1.1 Dickey-Fuller test (DF); 62
3.3.1.3 Philips Perron Unit Root test; 64
3.3.1.4 Dickey Fuller-Generalized Least Square Test; 64
3.3.1.5 Kwiatkowski, Phillips, Schmidt and Shin (KPSS) Test; 65
3.3.2 Structural Break Testing; 66
3.3.3 Cointegration and Error Correction Mechanism; 68
  3.3.3.1 Autoregressive Distributed Lag Model (ARDL); 68
  3.3.3.2 Johansen Cointegration Test; 71
  3.3.3.3 Vector Error Correction Mechanism (VECM); 76
3.3.4 Structural VAR Method; 77
3.4 Summary of Conclusions; 84

4. Testing the Validity of the International Trinity Hypothesis in India, 86-106
  4.1 A Review of Database, Construction of Variables, and Methodology; 87
  4.2 Empirical Analysis; 88
    4.2.1 International Trinity in India: A Cointegration Analysis; 92
    4.2.2. International Trinity in India: A Graphical Analysis; 99
  4.3 Summary of Conclusions; 104

5. The Determinants of Reserves and the Role of International Reserves to Synthesize Trinity Debate: A Quadrilemma Analysis, 107-132
  5.1 A Review of Data Sources, Variable Construction and Methodology; 109
  5.2 International Reserves in the choice of trilemma variables: A Quadrelimma Analysis; 113
  5.3 Determinants of International Reserves: A Structural VAR Analysis; 125
  5.4 Summary of Conclusions; 131

6. Sensitivity of Macroeconomic Policy Goals to Trilemma and Quadrelimma Choices, 133-156
  6.1 Review of Data Sources, Variables Construction, and Methodology; 135
    6.1.1 ARDL Model Descriptions with respect to the present Chapter; 137
  6.2 Empirical Analysis; 138
  6.3 Summary of Conclusions; 155

7. Summarization of Trinity and Quadrelimma Choices in India with few Policy Implications, 157-168

Bibliography and References, 169-191
