CONTENTS

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

Page No.

Origin of credit control; Objectives of credit control - Control of 'cyclical' phenomenon, Balancing of saving and investment, Regulation of the size of credit, Full employment of resources, Economic stability, Continuity of values, Regulation of international exchange rates - Limitations; Emergence of Central Banking as 'Technique' of credit management; Need for credit regulation in India.

CHAPTER II

INSTRUMENTS OF CREDIT CONTROL

Page No.

Instrument of Bank Rate: - Theory involved; Factors offsetting the effectiveness - Large amount of short-term Government Securities held by Commercial Banks, Non-bank holdings of short-term or redeemable Government Securities, Central Banks support or otherwise of Government Securities.

Open Market Operations: - Theory involved; Objectives - to ensure seasonal movements in the economy, Neutralisation of effects of gold movements, To assist the Government in its financing and maintenance of orderly conditions in the market, Holding down of particular interest rates, Making of the Bank Rate more effective, Broadening of security market; Factors determining effectiveness - Broad and active money market, Fixity in cash ratio to the deposits of the bank, Bank's attitude towards discounting of bills and borrowing from the Central Bank.

Variation in Reserve Ratio: - Theory and mechanism involved; Limitations - large excess reserves with banks, Banks' ready access to reserve funds, inflow of gold due to export surplus etc.

General Credit Controls - A comparative study.
Selective Measures of Credit Control:
General theory of Selective Weapons; Methods of selective control; Margin requirements - Mechanism involved, Effects of margin requirements; Moral suation; Direct action by Central Bank-- Theory of direct action; Direct action Vs. Moral suation; Rationing of credit-- Theory of rationing; Efficacy of selective measures of credit control.

CONSTITUTIONAL POWERS OF RESERVE BANK OF INDIA REGARDING CREDIT CONTROL

A. Rediscounting and lending Powers:
Discount & Purchase of Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes; Discount and Purchase of Agricultural papers; Discount and Purchase of Bills and Notes for the purpose of trading in Government Securities; Advances against Promissory notes supported by documents of 'Title of Goods'; Emergency advances.

B. Powers to 'Operate in the Market':
Purchase and sale of sterling; Operations in Bills of exchange including Treasury Bills drawn in U.K., Purchase and sale of Government Securities of any country; Purchase and sale of Central Government, State Governments and Local Government Securities; Operations in shares and Securities of companies, Purchase and sale of gold coins, bullion etc.

C. Powers regarding 'Reserve Ratio':
Cash reserves of the scheduled banks to be kept with the Central Bank; Reserves of non-scheduled banks.

D. Powers regarding Selective Controls:
Direction of lending policy in public interest, Directions regarding margins and determination of lending policy, Issuance of directives in relation to matters of policy or administration prohibition of particular transactions.
CHAPTER IV

BANK RATE POLICY OF RESERVE BANK OF INDIA

Variations in Bank Rate -- First change in 1935, First Post-war change in Nov., 1951; Another change in May, 1957; Latest change in Jan., 1963; September, 1960

Measures -- Three-tier system of graded rates; Impact on Bank-credit; Lending rates of banks raised; Four-tier system to repeal September, 1960 measures; Emergency measures - Revival of Three-tier system; Concessions allowed therein; Aim of the concessional rates for State Co-operative Banks; Quotas for co-operative loans; Feeble role of bank rate policy - A critical estimate; Factors responsible for ineffectiveness -- Uncontrolled money market; Self sufficiency of scheduled banks; Divergent policies of Imperial bank (State Bank) of India.

CHAPTER V

OPEN MARKET POLICY OF RESERVE BANK OF INDIA

Conditions found in India; Objectives of the policy - Relief in times of monetary stringency; Minimising the price fluctuations; Adjustment between demand and supply; Operative techniques and Procedures - Operation through brokers; Maintenance of "Cash Balance Investment Accounts"; Direction of the policy; Fixation of prices and rates; Changing of lists of securities; Open market operations X-Rayed:- Operations before outbreak of II War; Policy during II war period; Policy of re-adjustment after the war (1946-50); Policy after Planning - First Plan Period; Policy changed in 1951; Change in borrowing technique of Central and State Governments; Operations in Second Plan Period and afterwards - New phase after 1957; Trends in Gilt-edged yields.

CHAPTER VI

'RESERVE RATIO' POLICY OF RESERVE BANK OF INDIA

Objectives of the Policy - to Guarantee the liquidity of banking system, to ensure the Reserve Bank of India, the supply of deposits to conduct its local operations, to support open market policy; Provision for fixed ratio; Introduction of variable ratio; Variations in reserve ratio; Impounding revoked; Ineffectiveness of Reserve Ratio Policy.

CHAPTER VII

GENERAL CREDIT CONTROLS

ABROAD

(A) Bank Rate:
Policy of Bank of England - An account of variations in the Bank Rate; Reasons for frequent changes - Development of London as World's Financial Centre; Meagre gold reserves of bank in relation to credit structure; Heavy investments abroad; Policy during I war; Policy during 1932-51; Bank Rate after 1951.

Bank Rate Policy in U.S.A. - Brief account of changes in Bank Rate; Reasons for less effectiveness - Absence of conventional relationship between Bank Rate and money rates; Surplus gold reserves with banks, strong speculative activity; Lack of independence of Federal Reserve Banks in fixing their discount rates; Absence of a penal rate of discount.

(B) Open Market Operations:
In Great Britain: Early operations; Operations after outbreak of II War.
In U.S.A.: Operations before outbreak of II War; Policy after outbreak of II War.

(C) Variation in Reserve Requirements:
General and brief discussion of such requirements abroad;
Reserve Requirements in U.S.A.: Early History; Policy after the U.S.A.'s entry into II War.
CHAPTER VIII

SELECTIVE CREDIT CONTROLS
IN INDIA

Early attempts; Organised Phase since 1956-57.

Selective Credit Controls in 1956-57 (against Rice, Food-grains and Cotton)

Selective Credit Controls in 1957-58 (against Food-grains, Paddy, sugar, Shares etc.)

Selective Credit Controls in 1958-59 (against Food-grains, sugar, groundnuts, receipts etc.)

Selective Credit Controls in 1959-60 (Against Food-grains, Oil-seeds, Equities, (Paddy and Rice etc.)

Selective Credit controls in 1960-61 (against Food-grains, (Jute, Clean Loans etc.)

Selective Credit Controls in 1961-62 (against Paddy & (Rice, Shares, Jute, (Clean Loans etc.)

Course of Moral Suation.

CHAPTER IX

SELECTIVE CREDIT CONTROLS
ABROAD

(a) Selective Credit Controls in U.K.: Before and during II War; During Post War period upto Oct., 1951; Controls during the period Nov.1951 to Dec., 1953; Selective controls after 1953; Effects of directives issued in 1955.
(B) Selective Credit Controls in U.S.A.:
Controls regarding stock market Credit- Before and during Korean War; After Korean War; Controls regarding Consumer Credit - Prior to end of Korean War; After the Korean War; Controls regarding Estate or Mortgage Credit.

(C) Selective Credit Controls in Australia.
Controls during II war; Policy after II war upto 1951-52; Selective credit control policy during 1952 and afterwards.