ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The pious feeling of acknowledging the debt of gratitude and offering thanks is a very fortunate one. But it is equally a difficult one for there is a chance of one’s forgetting to mention some who have been a source of inspiration and who have contributed to the progress of one’s work.

First of all, I express my gratefulness to the Vice-Chancellor of Dr.B.R. Ambedker University, Agra for allowing me to work on this thesis. I do not find words to express my heartfelt gratitude for my eminent teacher and revered guide Dr. Ranjana Mehrotra, Reader, Baikunthi Devi Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Agra. She is a real ‘mother-Guru’ which is very uncommon in the materialistic world of today. The motherly affection, encouragement and ungrudging advice, which I received from her during the period of my work is impossible for me to repay in anyway throughout my life. Without her guidance and sympathetic attitude, my toil towards the completion of this study would have never materialized. Indeed, I find myself short of words in expressing my thanks to her. I feel profound gratitude to the other members of the department viz. Dr.Nirupama Mishra, Dr. Gunjan Chaturvedi and Dr. Poonam Gupta, Deptt. of English, Baikunthi Devi Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Agra for their help and guidance.

I am very much thankful to Ms. Swadesh Gupta and Dr. Rekha Jouhari, Baikuthi Devi Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Agra for their constant help and encouragement.
I am also indebted to the Principal, Baikunthi Devi Mahavidyalaya, Agra for allowing me to make use of all the facilities in the college and extending all support to me. I wish to express my gratitude to the library staff of Baikunthi Devi Kanya Mahavidyalaya, Agra and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University central library, Agra, for providing me with the required books and periodicals etc. My thankfulness is also for the library staff of the Indo-American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad, American Centre and J.N.U. Library, New Delhi, through whom I could collect rare material to complete my research work.

Besides the academic institutions there are some of my intimate relatives who have contributed a lot to the completion of the thesis. First of all major credit goes to my brother-in-law Mr. R.K. Gupta as without his co-operation I could do nothing. When it comes to my parents Mr. Ram Prakash Gupta and Mrs. Rajkumari Arya, I do not know what to say; today whatever I am is due to them. It was the seed which they had sown which has borne fruit. Their immense pride in me and constant encouragement has been like a benediction with me. I also thank my in laws, Mr. Ramesh Chandra Gupta and Mrs. Updesh Gupta who have always taken great interest and inspired me to work faster and finish my work. My husband Dr. Ashish Kumar Gupta also rendered full co-operation through all the stages of my work. If it had not been for his co-operation and encouragement, I would never have summoned up the courage to continue with such a mammoth task as this. My little son Apoorv also deserves my thanks for letting me work in peace and a calm environment. Credit also goes to my younger brothers Mr. Amit Prakash, Mr. Atul Praksh. Besides, I am also deeply thankful to my Bhabhi
Mrs. Richa Prakash who not only helped me to work faster but also gave me active help and co-operation. At last my credit goes to my cousin Sonam, who helped me in my written work.

The contribution of the numerous critics and scholars is not the least in anyway. The list of their names is too long for my petty self to acknowledge their debt individually, I feel obliged to them enmasse. I would also like to thank Hanuman Enterprises, Sadar Bazar, Agra for sharing their toil in my research work.

And finally, I thank God Almighty without whose blessing, it would be impossible to attain the desired destination
