ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Words fail to express my sense of deep gratitude towards my esteemed teacher, Dr. M.K. Singh, M.Sc., Ph.D., Head of Statistics Department, D.A.V. College, Kanpur. I had the coveted privilege to be taught by him in my graduate and post graduate classes and I have been further blessed, when he took me under his guidance for this presentation for Doctoral award. His fatherly affection would never let me go easily, for my lapses or shortcomings in my present research work. He wanted a disciplined and receptive research worker, and his attention would never fail to ensure that I come up to his expectations. If I have lived up to his expectation, it was entirely due to his constant encouragement, continuous evaluation and valued advice. I can safely say that a guide, so kind and patient with the research worker, yet not compromising on the quality of research work, as Dr. M.K. Singh is, is a rare blend. Once again, I bow in all humility in his ability as a teacher, a sagacious guide and a person brimming with sympathy.

To Dr. S.K. Jain, M.D., D.T.C.D., F.C.C.P. (U.S.A.), Professor and Head of Department, Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases, M.L.N. Medical College, Allahabad, I owe my enunciation in research work. It was his encouragement which lured to the research work in
Medical College, and involved me in publication of more than two dozen research papers in various journals in this country and abroad. Soft spoken by temperament, magnanimous in behaviour and receptive in matters of accommodating students and research workers are rare attributes of Dr. Jain. His valuable advice and his kindness in extending all facilities to me, will always remain enshrined in my heart.

To Dr. S.R. Singh, M.S., D.L.O. Principal, M.L.N. Medical College, Allahabad, I express a sense of reverence. His knowledge and unhindered help in this research, is what any research worker would cherish to have. Serving under him, I can, gratefully, say that the same would be bestowed on him by Principal Dr. S.R. Singh. Needless to say that one has to seek with humility, sincerity and dedication.

My respectful regards go to Padmashree Dr. (Miss) Raj Baveja, M.S., D.G.O., Ph.D., Professor and Head, Department of Obst. and Gynaecology, for her kindness, candidness and tolerance. Even during her daily busy schedule, she always found time to give me patient hearing and valued advice. Besides being an administrator, in her mild mannered personality, she carries all the attributes of self disciplined person and an eminent teacher.

Language and words fail to express the proper expression of my heart, to late Prof. K.K. Shukla,
Principal Brahmanand College, Kanpur, who inspired me to conduct this research work.

I also express my sincere thanks to Dr. (Mrs.) Rita Shukla, M.S. for her help and invaluable suggestions during the entire period of this study.

I am grateful and indebted to Dr. M.H. Pant, Ph.D., Director, Computer Division, Indira Gandhi Open University, New Delhi, for his valuable suggestions and timely help during computer analysis, otherwise this thesis would never been completed.

I wish to thank my friends and colleagues, Dr. U.K. Ghosh, M.D.; Dr. A.L. Dubey, M.D.; Dr. S.K. Shukla, M.D. Dr. G.J. Gupta, Ph.D. and Dr. P.C. Misra, M.D., for their valuable advice and co-operation.

I am grateful to staff of I.C.M.R. and Post Partum Programme of M.L.N. Medical College, Allahabad for their help in motivating the subjects for present study.

At last but not the least, I am thankful to staff of Herschel Systems Pvt. Ltd., 19 Hamilton Road Allahabad, particularly Mr. Sanjay Malaviya, Director; Mr. Tanmoy Mukerji, Chief Executive; Mr. Sanjay John and Mr. Saurabh Govil for their help and cooperation during wordprocessing and data processing.

(Devashish Sharma)