Acknowledgement

At the outset I thank the Almighty for giving me inspiration, strength and vigor for completing my research work. Nothing worthwhile can be achieved without His grace. This journey of research has been one of the most beautiful gifts He bestowed upon me. I am eternally thankful to The Eternal Him for His grace.

It is law of nature that anything beautiful and sublime is created step by step through the contribution of many people. For the successful completion of my thesis, first and foremost, I take the privilege of thanking my guide, Dr. Mamta Garg, Associate Professor, University School of Open Learning, Panjab University. Her disciplined approach acted as an inspiration for me to reach my goal. I thank Dr. Latika Sharma, Chairperson, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing all possible facilities for smooth conduct and completion of this work. Education journey is very long and could only be accomplished with the blessings of teachers at every step. Many teachers contributed towards my educational journey. Though it is not possible to name every teacher in my life, while writing this acknowledgement; I can recapitulate the smiling faces of all of my teachers from my nursery class upto the present degree level. To mention a few I express my gratitude to my beloved teachers Dr. Nandita Singh, Dr. Jasvir Chahal, Dr. Kjrandeep Singh and Dr. Khushwinder Singh. I also thank Dr. Kuldip Puri and Dr. Rupak Chakravarty for their support and guidance.

For any research project to be completed one needs a benefactor. Someone who provides unconditional support, scolds and fights, disciplines you but still holds fast, never leaving you in thick and thin. For me that support came from my father. From data collection to data compilation to readings and re-readings of the thesis, his support and guidance helped me where nothing else could. He filled in the role of a critic, analyzer and supporter all rolled into one.
I also need to mention my little support system, my shining star, my daughter Peehu. Had it not been for her playfulness and innocent presence the beauty and passion that I felt for this project would have been missing. The most undemanding person, who gave me space to strive and to grow, is my husband Kapil Sharma. It would not have been possible to complete this project without his co-operation and support. My mother-in-law, my mother, my sisters and friends too have been important contributors in this journey of life. Words won’t specify the gratitude I owe to them all.

A special thanks to the ever supportive office staff of Education Department of Panjab University. And yes a heartfelt thanks to my fellow researchers who formed a special circle for debates, brain-storming sessions, views exchange, fun, frolic and love. Though not naming them all but would always recapitulate their contribution in completion of my thesis.

Once again express my gratitude from core of my heart to the Almighty, my guide and my teacher.
