Acknowledgements

My research has involved the help and support of a number of persons during the tenure of my study. I would like to begin with expressing thanks to all the people who have become the part of my study. It includes 309 respondents who have given me insight into the study area and office-bearers from the government authorities and non-governmental institutions in the city. They have not only spared their time for my study but also their life experiences and thus, developing a bond of trust with me.

Words fail to express my gratitude towards my supervisor, Dr. Aparajita De. She has been my guide as well as my mentor. She has read my dissertation draft several times and advised me on numerous occasions which led to the improvement of my writing and analysis.

I thank my research committee members Professor H. Ramachandran and Dr. Anandita Dutta for providing useful suggestions to improve the quality of my dissertation research. I am also thankful to the Department of Geography, both the teaching faculty members and non-teaching members for their help at various points in time.

This dissertation could not have been complete without the support of my entire family as everybody has been very supportive and encouraging throughout my research. If I count each one of them the list is very long, but my parents and my mother-in-law deserve a special mention as they have been there at every point of time as my support system in all senses.

Any words of thanks would not be sufficient for my son Arav as he has been very understanding with long number of hours going towards my research. My younger son Anandit, who is just two months old, has helped in his own way. Last but not the least I want to thank my husband, Sameer, for helping me at every step of my research. He has been more than a source of moral support to me. He has been a person who has been available as a discussant for anything regarding my study.

It is impossible to thank every individual who has directly and indirectly helped me in the research so, I thank all for their input and advice.
