ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I sincerely thank all those who have contributed in one way or the other to this study.

Words can only inadequately express my deepest gratitude to my respected guide, Prof. Bhramarbara Jena, for his meticulous guidance, care, kindness, patience, motivation, stimulating discussions and generosity. His fruitful comments and insightful suggestions have been a crucial formative influence on the present study. He has supported me in every possible way since the beginning of my research. His guidance helped me throughout the time of research and writing of this thesis. I could not have imagined having a better advisor and mentor for my Ph.D. study. His critical and careful reading of my writing and suggestion for appropriate moderation of the languages has saved me from a lot of hard words. Without his guidance and encouragement, my research would have never come out in the present form. I have seen in him an unpretentious and devoted scholar sitting hours together even at the age of 87 to go through each and every word I used in this thesis and correct it wherever required and that too after having thorough discussion with me in that regard. Furthermore, it has been a memorable and enjoyable experience for me to work with him. I cannot forget his stirring inspirations to complete this study in time.

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. S.N. Rath, former Prof. & Head, Department of Political Science, Utkal University who was my respected teacher for guiding me diligently in the initial stage of my effort for this study without which I could not have ventured to tread upon this arduous path of making a study in an area where limited or no study at all has been there while continuing to be a non-academic working person throughout the course of this study.

I am deeply indebted to the authorities of Reserve Bank of India who gave me permission to make this study.

My special thanks are to Mr. Biswanath Pradhan, Additional Secretary, Department of Labour and ESI, Govt. of Odisha, the authorities of the State Labour Institute, Shri Satya Narayan Mishra, Asst. Director, Office of the Labour Commissioner, Odisha, Directorate of Statistics, Odisha, Directorate of Employment Exchange, Odisha, Directorate of Census, Odisha for their kind assistance by permitting me to access data and relevant materials and by supplying various reports, papers, booklets and authentic statistics while carrying out the present research.

I am also immensely thankful to Dr. Samir Ranjan Behera, the Assistant General Manager, Monitoring and Research Unit, Reserve Bank of India, Bhubaneswar for his incessant inspiration, expert guidance, invaluable suggestions and improvement of the manuscript significantly.
Mr. Rajesh Kund, Mr. Amit Behera, Mr. Soumya Ranjan Das, Mr. Sourav Srichandan Rout, Mr. Satyajit Mohapatra all technically equipped young persons deserve special thanks from the core of my heart for their help and assistance.

I must warmly thank authorities of the Parija Library, Vani Vihar, Utkal University who gave me access to the Library and the courtesy shown to me while allowing me to avail facilities available there. Without their precious support it would not have been possible to conduct this research. Gratefully I acknowledge the contributions made by the workers, trade union leaders and the management executives and all others who painstakingly responded to all my questionnaires and queries to complete this study in time.

I also express sincere thanks to my colleagues of different Departments of Reserve Bank of India, Bhubaneswar and those whose names are not mentioned here for their full support, encouragement and constant inspiration which helped me to speed up my work and complete this study before deadline.

Last but not the least, I wish to express heartfelt appreciation to my near and dear ones, family members, co-workers, for their constant inspiration and encouragement.
