7. SCOPE FOR FURTHER STUDY

These plants can be evaluated for the isolation and evaluation of active principles from the extracts, which are responsible for the potential antioxidant, antihyperlipidemic, antidiabetic and renoprotective activities. In addition, development and evaluation of herbal formulation using these extracts will be beneficial.