ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My long journey to the completion of this dissertation would have not been possible without the encouragement and support of many people. I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincerest appreciation to the following individuals and institutions.

First, I would like to thank my research director Prof. Nimma Venkata Rao for his consistent guidance and constructive comments. Without his constant encouragement and technical assistance, completion of this thesis would have been difficult. Thank you my guide for your genuine concern and gracious approach that helped me to pursue my study with poise.

I am grateful to Andhra University, Department of Education for providing me constant support through the study period and permitting me adequate time for my fieldwork or data collection in my home country, Ethiopia. In relation to this, I appreciate the support and encouragement of Prof. Garalatchana, head Department of Education and Prof.Ranganatan a member of board of Doctoral committee.

My special gratitude also goes to the Embassy of Ethiopia in India (Delhi), for its unreserved support throughout the time of my study. Besides, my special thanks also go to the Ethiopian Ministry of Education and Dilla University for covering my air ticket expenses to and from Ethiopia. I further extend my warmest gratitude to Dilla University, which has stood by me in providing residence and financial support for my family when I was far abroad for my study.

I also extend my heartfelt appreciation to my wife Mrs. Asrat Melese for her endurance to overcome the painful times of loneliness and shoulder the family burden on her own. I thank you Asri for all that you did. You have a special place both in my heart and in my success. If it were not for you, it would have been tricky for me to mentally settle myself and achieve my goal.

I would like to thank and acknowledge my mother Tiruwork Tesfaye, my sisters Alemshet Gezahegn, Meselech Gezahegn, and Yeshi Gezahegn. Thank you all for your wholehearted love, admiration, and encouragement during my long and tiresome journey to the completion of this paper. Your contribution to my achievement is priceless.

Further, I am also grateful to my Father Gezahegn Negash, my sisters Tenagne Gezahegn and Tinsaenesh Gezahegn, my brother Samson Gezahegn, my friend Wondifraw Wana and my aunt Senait Habtewold for the praise and appreciation they have for me. You are part of the inputs to my study.

Finally, I extend my utmost gratitude to Dr.Ziyn Engdasew (Adama University), Dr.Bogale Teferi (Dilla University), Dr.Tesfaye Semela (Hawassa University), and Ato Zerihun Ayene (Jimma University) for their unfailing technical support and advice during the critical time of my study. My special gratitude also goes to Ato Hariso Lalima and W/ro Almaz Dukamo, both from Sidama Zone Education Department, for providing me with the required information during the time of data collection. I thank you all for your invaluable contributions.
