ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

With my heart bubbling with joy and overwhelming with gratitude, I submit my thanks to all those who have made the completion of my thesis possible.

My heart goes out to thank:

- The Lord Almighty who made all things possible to me, giving me good health and strength and the acquaintance of pleasant people right from getting a guide to the submission of my thesis.

- My guide, Dr. K. Balasubramanian, Professor, Department of English, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli, who helped me conceptualize the research work and for having guided me throughout my research work with a fatherly affection, never accepting less than my best efforts.

- Mr. A.P.C.V. Chockalingam, the President of A.P.C. Mahalaxmi College for Women and the Principal of A.P.C. Mahalaxmi College for Women, Thoothukudi, who gave me permission to pursue my Ph.D Degree and to conduct the experimental study at my workplace.

- The Principals, the respondents to the questionnaires, both the teachers and the students of various institutions who participated in the survey and my students who participated in the experimental study, for without them voluntarily giving up their scarce free time, this thesis would not have been possible.

- The librarians of A. P. C. Mahalaxmi College, Thoothukudi, V. O. C. College of Education, Thoothukudi, Annammal College of Education, Thoothukudi, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai, SCILET, American College, Madurai, Ramesh Mohan Library, EFLU, Hyderabad, OUCIP, Hyderabad, The British Council, Chennai, and Connemara Library, Chennai, who permitted me access books, journals and thesis.

- My friends Dr. V. Chanthiramathi, Mr. B. Beneson, Mr.I.B.M.Samraj, Mrs. D. Smilin and Mrs. P. Suryakala for their unconditional help, support and encouragement for collection of data, for having provided me with secondary sources, appreciating and motivating me with their feedback and shaping my thesis.

- My colleagues, for helping me out in carrying out the activities at the college, and for having exchanged interesting ideas and thoughts regarding my research work.

- My husband, Mr. S. Albert Raja and my kids, Silvia and Shekina, my parents, my sister, and my in-laws, for the sacrifices they had to make, for the inconveniences they had to endure and for the endless love and patience they showed through the period of my studies.
