Acknowledgements

This thesis relies upon the works and endeavors of many whose names and contributions it is impossible to mention within these brief acknowledgements. First and foremost, I am indebted to my supervisor, Dr. Gurpreet Mahajan, who provided me valuable guidance. During the course of this work her constructive suggestions and analytical reflections, guided me on how to arrive at a profound understanding of the impact of modernity on Islam. Needless to say that the shortcoming which may remain are entirely my own responsibility. I am thankful to Seyyed Mohammad Mohammadi for all his help, particularly for his fruitful suggestions about some aspects of the work. It is hardly possible to put into words how much I owe to the support of my mother. I am not able to express how much I owe to my wife, Zahra. How can I ever thank her? I can only dedicate this work to her.
