Acknowledgements

A piece of work is a product of the co-operation of all the seen and unseen forces of the Universe. Thus it is with a sense of gratitude to all the conscious and unconscious help that made this thesis possible, that I begin this process of thanks giving.

My sincere thanks and gratitude to all the people of the Shia community whom I met in these years for their warmth and acceptance, for sharing insights on the meaning of martyrdom of Hussein. I am particularly thankful to Anees Uncle for his efforts to introduce me to some Shia families, to Yasmeen Baji, who has been extremely co-operative and warm and spend many an hour talking to me about Hazart Hussein, to Bajjo who introduced me to the Shia families in Okhla; to Mrs Safiya Kazmi, for enthusiastically discussing the meaning of martyrdom of Hussein, Mr Mehmood Naqvi who made it possible for me to attend a ‘male majlis’, to Abbas Uncle and Shamim Aunty for explaining to me the meaning of martyrdom of Hussein, Mrs. Nasira Sharma for giving me time and sharing her views on Shiaism, to Tashi Aunty and Iqbal Uncle for their interpretation of Matam and their love and concern. I have been overwhelmed by the acceptance and warmth extended to me.

I am most grateful to my supervisor Dr. R.K. Jain, without whose warmth and whose meticulous and insightful guidance and unhesitating co-operation, this work would not have seen completion.

To Dr Patricia Uberoi, under whom this work was, initially undertaken, I offer heartfelt gratitude and warmth for accepting to be my supervisor when I stood on very shaky grounds, her gentleness compassion and human yet thorough guidance can never be forgotten.

I thank Prof. Jafri of Jamia Millia Islamia and Mrs Shahida Khatun Basu for their unhesitating help.

Dr. Nandu Ram, Chairperson (CSSS/SSS) J.N.U. has been very co-operative in sorting out the administrative complications regarding the thesis. My heartfelt thanks to him, the teaching faculty, and to the helpful non-teaching staff of CSSS/SSS.

I thank Dr. S, Bhalla, Principal Maitreyi College for her unhesitating co-operation in ensuring that my study leave got sanctioned. I am thankful to Ushaji and the other non-teaching staff of the college for efficiently handling the administrative formalities.

My sincere thanks to Mr Upendra Rai for patient typing and retyping this thesis as a family member. I am thankful to Mr. Harish of Pawar Graphics for the final draft of the thesis.

Friends and family have been the anchors who steadied the ground under my feet, consciously or unconsciously, so that I pursue my work with a stable mind. I thank them all- Shahana, Govind, Feisal, Mamma, Chachaji, Chachiji, Shruti, Mrs Shobha Narayan, Gargi Di, Yogam-.

Charu, to her I am indebted for her unquestioning love, care, friendship, and for being the solid support at all points of my life.

Radhika, her patient listening, care, friendship and interest in my work will always be invaluable.

Rajya Laxmi, I thank for her tireless helpfulness and her cheerful warmth.
Vicky, to him I am grateful for his invaluable friendship and understanding.

Mohu my little nephew, I thank for always bringing joy into my life.

Nandini, my little daughter, I thank for being there. Her presence lights up my world with tenderness, love and hope. In her lies the spring of my life and the inspiration to live.

Devdutt Tripathy with whom I share my life and who is a friend close to my heart, I thank for showing me how to persevere in hopelessness.

To Saachi Dada. I offer humble gratitude, and affection. He set me down this path of knowing and understanding the ‘other’ view of the world. His thought provoking questions gave me many a sleepless nights. He has been, and continues to be the Dronacharya of whom I am the ever learning Eklavya.

Thanking Baba merely for his untiring support for this thesis, would belittle all that he stands for, and means to me- unity of thought, word and action; unconditional love, faith, commitment and much more- I owe my ‘being’ and ‘becoming’ to him.

I humbly dedicate this thesis to him, and to ‘Ma’, who quietly forbore and retreated till she could no longer be seen, because she loved. The pain of her demise changed this thesis from an objective, academic pursuit into a search for meaning.
