ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my great pleasure to acknowledge the immense help, co-operation and guidance that I have received from various persons and institutions during the course of my study.

First and foremost, my sincere gratitude and indebtedness go to my supervisor Dr. Gayatri Goswami, who has been relentlessly guiding and inspiring me since I began the study. She has always been generous to me in giving her invaluable time in discussion, offering useful tips and ideas and checking the details of the study.

I am greatly indebted to Prof. M.P. Bezbaruah, Professor and Head, Department of Economics, and Dean, Faculty of Arts, Gauhati University for his invariable help and suggestions. It is a privilege and a great advantage to have free access to the wealth of his wisdom and experience.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to the faculty members of the Department of Economics, Gauhati University for their valuable suggestions and help during the course of study.

I avail this opportunity to extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Bonti Rani Gogoi, Principal, H.P.B. Girls’ College, Golaghat, for her kind support in the process of pursuing my research work.

I offer my sincere gratitude to the UGC-NERO officials for granting me study leave for pursuing my research work under FDP.

During the course of the study, I have visited several libraries for collecting materials. I take this opportunity to thank the staff of the libraries of K.K. Handiqui Library, Gauhati University, EXIM Library, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, Indian Institute of Entrepreneurship, Guwahati, Omeo Kumar Das Institute of Social Change and Development, Guwahati, Dibrugarh University, Dibrugarh and Assam Agricultural University, Jorhat.

The secondary data were collected from the offices of different Departments of the Government of India and the Government of Assam such as National Sample Survey Organisation (NSSO), Directorate of Agriculture, Government of Assam and the I offer my sincere thanks to the Officers and Staff of these Departments for their timely help in providing me the required data and other relevant documents.

In carrying out field surveys in connection with the study, I received support and assistance from a large number of people. The Agricultural Development Officers (ADOs) and the Village Level Extension Workers (VLEWs) of the four Circles in which the field work was done, gave full co-operation not only in providing background information but also in the process of selection of the sample villages and farm households. The sample farmers interviewed were invariably very cordial and always patient enough to answer all the questions asked. My friends Sri Bhupen saikia, Sri Dharmeswar Borah, Sri Robin Deka and Sri Deepjyoti Das helped me in data collection in the field survey. Mr. Jogananda Phukan, Mr. Mridul Roy and Mr. Rupeswar Phukan also gave a helpful hand in the field survey. I am also thankful to all these people for their kind and valuable help.

I would fail in my duty if I fall short of words to express my gratitude to my Mother Smti. Bhoni Saikia and my elder brother Sri Dwipen saikia and younger brother Sri Jibon Saikia. I wish to express my love and affection to my son Digdarpan (Maina) and cousins Raktim Sagar (Dhonti) and Rupom Jyoti (Butu) for their kind patience and encouragement as they bore forth during the course of the work.

I remain thankful to the persons who helped me in different ways at different stages of my study. I would like to thank Mr. Tapan Saikia, Assistant Professor in Sociology, H.P.B. Girls’ College; Golaghat, Dr. Ananta Gogoi, Dr. Subrata Barman and Mr. Kingshuk Chakravarty in this regard.

Last but not the least; I owe my indebtedness to my wife Deepanwita Saikia.
This work would not have seen the light of the day without her unfailing support.
