I take this opportunity to express my sincere indebtedness to Prof. Rajendra Prasad for instilling in me immense patience and confidence that are essential for carrying out scientific research. He was always there as a source of inspiration and guided me through my journey into research. It was a learning experience to work with him as he himself works harder than anybody else and that kept me charged all the time. His devotion and organization was a constant source of motivation all through these years. I am fortunate to have worked with such a hardworking scientist.

I would like to express my whole-hearted gratitude to Prof. Suresh V. Aohulkar, with whose able support and guidance, I was able to work at NIH. My stay at his lab was a life time learning opportunity and I can never forget the concepts of research ingrained in me by him. He was more than a research guide there and his kind gestures and efforts at every stage kept the things lively there. He took care of everything both in and out of the lab.

To all my teachers at SLS, JNU, my college and in the school for helping me in all that I needed. It is there love, affection and guidance which has brought me to this position here.

I cannot forget the time when I came to JNU and joined this lab. My seniors Murthy, Vinita, Sanjeev, Sarthi, Sneh, Neeti, Avoxet and Neerja were there to welcome me and all of them taught me important parts of lab experiments. They were like patronizing elders, always there to help me anytime anywhere. Neeti, Ayovet, Neerja and Sneh need special mention as I learnt almost all my experimental techniques and lab work organisation through them. Kasturi’s supporting attitude, Tulika, Ali, Naseen, Preeti, Sudhakar, Nivedita and the memories of the time that we spent together can never be forgotten. Nivedita and Pratima have been there to listen to everything and I will remember the time when we used to discuss all kinds of gossip in one or the other corner of the lab. Very special thanks to Pratima for her ‘NEVER-WORKING’ computer support. Anshu, Dibyendu, Sudhanshu, Varsha and Ritu added a new life to the lab atmosphere. My sincere thanks to all of you.

A very special thanks to Nandkumar and Birendraji for their technical and experimental help. Of course it would not have been possible for me to do research at all without the laboratory assistance from Naresh, Jasbir, Anil, Sukhendu, Shankar and Tiklal who were just a call away whenever I needed them. Thanks to all of you.

My very dear buddy ‘FAISAL’ who not only shared the same birthday but shared lunch and my life since we met each other. Though Allah has taken him away, I can still feel his presence and his love for the friendship we shared, I remember that I always used to crib about him reporting on time for lunch but he was there everyday and almost waited for hours just to have lunch with us. FAISAL, I MISS YOU. May your soul rest in peace.

Friends like Vikas are a blessing. He has been by me since I first left home. He was literally my guardian then and is still taking care.

Anasuya was always there to listen to me and has been a part of the ‘most important’ Though she left JNU early, her advice and support from thousands of miles away kept me going. I would like to recall all my batchmates, although most of them are not here today. The days and the evening
Birthday parties celebrated with Vibha, Reeta Ksh, Sindhu, Divya, Shalini, Vikas, Suresh, Mukeesh, Umesh, and Anand can never be forgotten. I still think that our batch is among the best batches of SLS till today. The memories associated with my very dear seniors Sanjeev, Vaishali, Saubhaya, Dhananjay, Andrew, Madhula, Sagarda, Shonikda, Neeraj and Gagan can never be forgotten. I would also like to mention a few other people with whom I shared corridor jokes: Manveen, Rajesh, Neel, Parul, Nivedita and Gaurav. Rajesh's and Suresh's rooms were a welcome home whenever I needed it.

The help rendered by Mr. A.C. Alexander, Mr. B.A. Khan, Mr. S. P. Mishra, Mr. S. P. Sharma and all others of CIF for handling the instruments and Mr. Saini for the photography is highly appreciated.

I thank Vibha ma'am, Najma ma'am and Baquer sir for their affection and the yearly parties we celebrated at sir's place.

I don't have the words to thank in any way any better half. She could not have done better. Her encouragement and blind support at all times kept me ready to do research. She was and is always ready with an ear to listen to me anytime anywhere, 'UNCONDITIONALLY ANYWHERE' and without her support, it would not be possible for me to come to this stage.

Lastly but most important, my heartfelt thanks to Maa and Papa, whose uniriting efforts and undemanding support has brought me to this position. I can only say that I have achieved anything and everything just because of you. Not to mention, Bhaiya and abhi's contribution. They took care of all my responsibilities. Bhaiya's 'just-a-phone call-away-support' is there with me all the time. His unexpected trips to JNU for carrying anything anytime to me and abhi with her lovely packed lunch were there throughout these years. Thanks to both of you for everything. Papa, Mum and Swati extended my family and I am thankful to them for being so nice and helpful whenever I needed them.

Puru, the little master, is my lifeline. His contribution is everywhere and the only words I can say are that his support was 'Wow!'

Financial help from UGC and CSIR is duly acknowledged.

It would not be complete if I don't thank the official carriers, my Yamaha 0094, my Honda 7365 and the luxurious Santro 0086 which sailed me all through the five years and were there every day every second anytime.

Thank you all for being so nice.
