ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Ever since the idea of working on the present topic came to my mind, I have been guided by the inspiring suggestions and deep insights of my respected supervisor Prof. Varun Sahni, who has always encouraged me in my academic pursuit. My sincere gratitude to my teachers, Prof. O.P. Bakshi, Prof. C.S.R. Murthy, Dr. S.S. Deora, Dr. Swaran Singh, and other faculty members for imparting in-depth knowledge and insightful suggestions. I am, also, thankful to Dr. Sanjay Bhardwaj, Dr. Nalin Mahapatra, and Dr. Rajan Kumar for their willingness to provide me all sorts of academic help.

I shall always remain grateful to Late Dr. A.K. Raina for his deep influence on me since my graduation days in Kirori Mal College of the University of Delhi.

I owe this research work entirely to my loving parents who have been a monument of inspiration and always stood by me with their blessings and support. I am equally grateful to my caring brother Santosh, along with other members of my family, for their motivation and support.

I would like to my sincere thanks to Dr. Vivek Mohan Dubey, Dr. Narendra Tripathi, and Mr. Samuel Rajiv for their valuable support and suggestions throughout the research.

This thesis would have not seen completion without the significant help of various scholars abroad whom I had the opportunity to meet during my visits to Israel and Palestine. I extend my gratitude towards Dr. Hillel Frish, Prof. Ifraim Inbare, Dr. Jonathan Reinhold, and Prof. Gerald Steinberg of Begin-Sadat Centre for Strategic Studies of Barllan University for the valuable ideas related to the study that they shared with me during my stay there. I, also, thank Dr. Mario Sajnader and Mrs. Jenny Nelson of The Harry S. Truman Institute for the Advancement of Peace of Hebrew University for all their valuable support. I am thankful to Dr. Leitvak Meir, Marion and Rakefet of the Moshe Dayan Centre for Middle Eastern and African Studies Tel Aviv University, for their significant support. Also, I express my gratitude towards the staff of Jaffee Centre for Strategic Studies, Library, the Ben Gurion University Library, Al Quds University Library of Palestine, and the Centre for Science and Environment (CSE) Delhi for providing me every possible help.
