ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to place on record my debt of gratitude to all those who helped me in the preparation of this thesis.

First and foremost I must thank my guide Dr. A. K. Chirappanath, Professor and Director, School of Gandhian Studies and Peace Science, Mahatma Gandhi University, who has been a steady source of encouragement to me throughout this research work. He generously spared his valuable time for discussions and for going through the text of the thesis. I am indebted to him.

Those 'sessions of sweet silent thought' that I had the privilege to have with Sri G. Ravindra Varma, Director, Institute of Gandhian Studies, Wardha, in Sevagram Ashram were illuminating as well as inspiring. Words cannot adequately convey the profound sense of gratitude I owe him.

I must express my gratitude to my colleagues in the School of Gandhian Studies and Peace Science, especially to Mr. M. S. John for sending me some very valuable material from Bradford, U.K., and Dr. Mahajan P. Mani for giving useful suggestions on methodological problems. Dr. P. K. Jose, Director, School of Distance Education, Mahatma Gandhi University, was good enough to go through some of the chapters and he gave valuable comments and suggestions for which I thank him sincerely.

I am grateful to Metropolitan Yuhanon Mar Milithiose, Bishop of the Diocese of Trichur, who sent me some useful but rare material from the University of Chicago where he was a research scholar. My special thanks are also due to Dr. A. Pushparajan, Department of Gandhian Thought, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai, for sharing some of his insights with me and also for his warm hospitality.

I will be failing in my duty if don't mention the name of Prof. (Mrs.) Somy Mathai of the Post Graduate Department of English, Mar Athanasius College, Kothamangalam, who patiently went through the entire text of the thesis, made corrections and gave pertinent comments. My thanks are also due to Mr. Sibi K. Joseph who helped me in the preparation of the bibliography.

Last but not the least, my special thanks go to the exuberant team of the Oxford Institute of Engineering Technology and Computer Centre, Muvattupuzha – Mr. Maheshan, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Saji, Mr. Reji et. al. – whose combined effort brought forth the final version of the thesis.

M. P. MATHAI
