Acknowledgements

I owe a great debt of gratitude to my research supervisor Dr. N. Narayanasamy, Professor of Extension Education, Faculty of Rural Development, Gandhigram Rural Institute, Gandhigram. He has been resourceful in every sense. He gave his time and energy most generously. But for his sustained encouragement and scholarly guidance this study would not have been completed. Words are inadequate to express my deepest sense of gratitude to him.

I extend my thanks to Dr. N. Thanulingam, Professor and Head, Department of Commerce, Kamaraj University, Madurai for his contribution as member of the Doctoral Committee.

I am pleased to thank Dr. M. Joseph, former Professor and Head; Dr. B. Subburaj, Head of the Department; Dr. P. Sivaprakasam and Dr. V. Babu the faculty members, Department of Cooperation, Gandhigram Rural Institute, Gandhigram for their constant encouragement throughout the study.

Grateful acknowledgements are due to the authorities of the Gandhigram Rural Institute, Gandhigram for their help in granting study leave and for extending necessary support during the study period.

I am very much thankful to the Director of Handlooms and Textiles, other officials in the Directorate of Handlooms and Textiles for granting me permission to collect data from the cooperative spinning mills. Thanks go to the administrators and officials of the selected cooperative spinning mills for their help in giving relevant data for the study.

I place on record my gratitude to Dr. A. Joseph Durairaj, Reader, Department of English, and Dr. S. Manivel, Lecturer, Department of Cooperation, Gandhigram Rural Institute, Gandhigram who went through the manuscript and offered valuable comments for improving the content and the language of this thesis.
I am very much thankful to the librarians of the Indian Institute of Finance, Delhi; Institute of Financial Management and Research, Institute of Cooperative Management, Chennai; Administrative Staff College of India, National Institute of Rural Development, Institute of Cooperative Management, Hyderabad; South Indian Textile Research Association, South India Mills Association, Coimbatore; Department of management studies of Kamaraj University, Madurai for granting permission to visit their libraries and for providing reference materials.

Invaluable moral support was received during the course of this study from some of my friends. Of them the most significant contribution was made by Messrs. P. Rajendran, Lecturer in Cooperation, Government Arts College, Dharmapuri; R. Ramesh, PRA Training Expert, DANIDA, Cuddalore; S. Nehru, A. Annadurai, P. Anandha Rajakumar, and Dr. K. Ravichandran, faculty members of Gandhigram Rural Institute, Mr. K. Suriyan and Mr. Velraj, Research Scholars; Mr. Karthik, Project Assistant, and Dr. K. Manikandan, Assistant Project Coordinator, NCRI project, Gandhigram Rural Institute. I am thankful to them.

I place my sincere gratitude to Mr. S. Murugan, Computer Operator, Department of Applied Research, and Mr. Sabes Manikandan for their help in bringing out the thesis in present format.

I have to place on record my heartfelt gratitude to my parents and family members for their constant and affectionate interest in my progress.
