This research was not possible without the cooperative attitudes of the farmers selected for detailed interview and officials of Betul and Chhindwara districts. Farmers curiously replied long questions, which are major database of the present research. Similarly officials readily made available official information. I am obliged to all of them.

The silent, consistent and strong support of my parents and my husband in bringing this venture to this stage is heartily acknowledged.

I am also very thankful to Shri Rajesh Pandey for skillful typing to the thesis. I pay my tribute to Sir Dr. Hari Singh Gour, founder of our university.

Finally, I pray to God Almighty for bestowing everything I got in life.
