ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The author owes a profound debt of gratitude to the supervisor of the study, Dr. R.P. Roy, Professor and Head, Department of Commerce and Dean, Faculty of Commerce (Retd.), Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Saugor, who inspired and encouraged him to undertake this study. In the midst of his busy schedule and numerous assignments he could always provide useful and valuable suggestions for the furtherance of this work. Without his able guidance and sustained interest it would not have been possible for the author to complete the study.

The author acknowledges his deep sense of gratitude to Dr. P.K. Seth, formerly Professor and Head, Department of Commerce and Dean faculty of Commerce, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishvavidyalaya, Saugor for his invaluable help and guidance at various stages of this study.

The author expresses his deep sense of gratefulness and appreciation to Dr. Harish Chandra Sainy, Prof. and Head, Department of Applied Economics and Business Management and the Dean, Faculty of Commerce in the University who stimulated the interest in the study and constantly inspired.
The author feel immensely gratified to extend sincere thanks to Dr. Ramesh Bharti, Professor and Head, Department of Commerce in the University for his ceaseless encouragement and constant inspirations.

The author also extends sincere thanks to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi, for awarding a teacher-fellowship grant and the authorities of Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Saugur, for giving permission to utilize its library and other research facilities. The author feels immensely gratified to the management of the Gondia Education Society and the Principal N.M.D.COLLEGE, GONDIA, for allowing to avail the research fellowship and thus to carry on the research work at Saugur. The author is also indebted to his esteemed colleagues of the department of commerce, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishawavidyalaya, Saugur and N.M.D.COLLEGE Gondia for their timely suggestions at different stages of the work. The author is thankful to the librarians of Saugur and other Universities and Institutes for permitting him to avail library facilities, officials of various departments of the State Government and local self Govt. and cooperative departments of the state, for providing relevant data, various functionaries and officials of marketing cooperative societies and regulated markets, traders, rice millers and farmers who have not only cooperated in providing relevant informations but also treated the author amicably at times. The author is also thankful to Shri Ashok Saxena for neatly drawing of various maps and diagrams and to Govind Galani of Gondia who neatly and timely typed the script of the thesis.

The author also acknowledges his debt to eminent writers of various research publications and related literature which proved to be of immense value in the preparation of the present work.

Lastly, the author takes this opportunity to extend his sincere thanks and hearty feelings to all these agencies including his intimate friends and family members who have been a continuous source of inspiration in the completion of his study during stress and strains and who have been directly and indirectly associated with this work.

Prabhakar Gupta