ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I deem it my sacred duty to acknowledge my indebtedness to those from whom I am fortunate to get all sorts of help and inspiration in my endeavour to study the religio-archaeological relics of Dhubri District.

At the outset I convey my sincere gratitude to all authors whose works I have fully and freely utilised in my present work. I am greatly beholden to individual scholars and the local people who have graciously offered me help and guidance in my field study.

I am immensely indebted to my respected guide and supervisor Dr. Bharati Baruah, M. A., LL.B., Ph. D., retired Professor and Head, Department of History, Gauhati University, without whose constant inspiration and guidance, it would not have been possible for me to complete my study. I am equally indebted to all the honourable teachers and faculty members of the History Department, Gauhati University.

I am also grateful to Dr. R. D. Choudhury, retired Director General, National Museum, New Delhi and former Director of Museums, Assam, for his repeated insistance on my doing some documental work, which became a source of inspiration for undertaking this research project.

I also offer my sincere gratitude to Dr. Birendranath Datta, retired Professor and Head, Department of Folklore and Folklore Research, Gauhati University, for his valuable suggestions and encouragement.

My indebtedness is also due to Dr. Dharmeswar Chutia, an eminent scholar, for his innumerable suggestions and relevant information towards the completion of my research work.

I would like to convey my sincere thanks to the authorities and the staff members of the libraries mentioned bellow:

1. The District Library, Dhubri.
2. Directorate of Museums, Assam
3. K. K. Handique Library, Gauhati University
4. Department of Historical and Antiquarian Studies, Guwahati
5. Kāmarūpa Anusandhāna Samiti, Guwahati
6. North Bengal State Library, Kochbehar (W.B)

I am also indebted to my family members, relatives, friends and well-wishers who have extended their help and co-operation in various ways.

I convey my gratitude to the Directorate of Museums, Assam, and to my other esteemed colleagues of the Directorate.
I am also thankful to the staff members of the District Museum, Dhubri, for their helpful co-operation.

My thanks also goes to Sri Trinesh Barua and Sri Rupam Barua for helping me in various ways.

Finally, I thankfully acknowledge the help and inspiration of my husband, Sri Tapan Mukherjee and my two sons Sri Maharshi and Sri Devarshi who took a lot of burden in many ways while I was engaged in my study.

Dated:
(Kabita Debi) 12.12.2066