REFERENCES

ASHOK, N.M. et al. (1982) Twilight IR brightening over India due to El Chichon's eruption in Mexico, Nature 300, 620-621.

* When the authors are more than three only the name of the first author is given.

FABIAN, P. et al. (1979) Simultaneously measured vertical profiles of H₂, CH₄, CO, N₂O, CFCl₃ and CF₂Cl₂ in the mid-latitude stratosphere and troposphere, J. Geophys. Res. 84, 3149-3154.

FIOCCO, G. and G. GRAMS (1964) Observation of aerosol layer of 20 km by optical radar, J. Atmos. Sci. 21, 323-324.

GILLE, J.C. et al. (1980) Sounding the stratosphere and mesosphere by Infrared limb scanning from space, Science 208, 397-399.

HIRONO, M., M. FUJlWARA and T. ITABE (1976) Behaviour of the stratospheric aerosols inferred from laser radar and small ion radiosonde observations, J. Geophys. Res. 81, 1593-1600.

MAHLMAN, J.D., H. LEVY and W.J. MOXIM (1930) Three dimensional trace structure and behaviour as simulated in two ozone precursor experiments, J. Atmos. Sci. 37, 655-605.

RANGARAJAN, S. (1972) Wavelength exponent for haze scattering in the tropics as determined by photoelectric photometers, Tellus 24, 56-64.

REED, R.J. (1968) A night time measurement of mesospheric ozone by observation of ultraviolet airglow, J. Geophys. Res. 73, 2951-2957.

