

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Indeed it is a pleasant task for me to thank all those who helped me in one way or the other in conducting, completing and submitting the present research work in the form of a doctoral thesis. As such, on this occasion my heart felt thanks and gratitudes are due to all of them.

First and foremost I deeply express my profound gratitude and sincere thanks to Dr. B. Hasan, Reader, School of Studies in Psychology, Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur (C.G.), my learned supervisor, without whose unconditional assistance and able guidance, it would have been impossible for me to complete this thesis. Apart from his regular academic assignments and busy schedules, he made it possible to guide me in the right direction.

My thanks are also due to Prof. (Dr.) Mrs. Promila Singh, HOD, School of Studies in Psychology and other faculty of the School of Studies in Psychology, who helped a lot in making departmental facilities available to me in the course of this scientific endeavour. My heart felt thanks are also due to Prof. M.A. Khan, the then Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences, Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur (C.G.), whose encouraging comments facilitated my registration on this topic for Ph.D. work and motivated me to complete the thesis within time.

Among those who deserve special thanks are the six faculty students and their College/University authorities. Infact I collected data on both male and female College/University students belonging to agriculture, social sciences, science, engineering, medical and commerce faculties. All these students with minimum hesitation welcomed me in their respective educational institution during the course of data collection for which I prefer to remain indebted to them.

I must record my warm regard and indebtedness to my father, Dr. R.D. Helode (The former professor and H.O.D., Psychology) whose critical comments kept me always alert, objective and scientific in the execution of this doctoral research work. I am also deeply indebted to Mrs. Rekha Helode, my mother, without whose blessing this work would not have seen the light of the day. I am equally grateful to Dr. C.D. Agashe and Mrs. Revati Agashe, a couple family friend of mine, for providing timely help to me in completing this thesis. I am also grateful to my wife, Dr. (Mrs.) Pragati Helode and little son Master Kshitij who gladly spared me for doing this work.

I am thankful to the staff of School of Studies in Psychology and library of Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University, Raipur for their timely help in pursuance of my research work. Any word of appreciation will not be enough for them.

Lastly, Shri Maneesh Dandekar, Raipur, deserves rich complements for the statistical analysis of the data through computer and for skilful typing of the manuscript and printing of this thesis.

Raipur :

Date :

(S.R. Helode)