CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

I. General Survey of Social Philosophy. 4-20
II. al-Dawwani: His Life and Works. 20-32
III. Metaphysical foundations of al-Dawwani's Social Philosophy. 32-50

CHAPTER I: BACKGROUND OF AL-DAWWANI'S SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY

I. Greek Social Thought. 51-74
II. Muslim Social Thought before al-Dawwani. 75-137

CHAPTER II: VIRTUE

I. Virtue: Preliminary discussion. 138-149
II. Cardinal Virtues. 149-176
III. The Importance of Justice. 177-186
IV. Division of Justice. 186-191
V. The Order of the Cultivation of Virtue. 192-198

CHAPTER III: PSEUDO-VIRTUES AND VICES

I. Pseudo-virtues. 199-208
II. Vices 209-218

CHAPTER IV: MAINTENANCE OF MENTAL HEALTH

I. Maintenance of Mental Health. 219-229
II. The Treatment of Mental Diseases. 229-263
CHAPTER V: FAMILY

I. The need for Home and Family Life. 264-268
II. The way of behaving with Wife. 268-280
III. Upbringing of Children. 281-296
IV. Observance of Parental Rights. 297-303
V. Employment of Servants. 303-308
VI. Finance of Family. 308-317

CHAPTER VI: STATE

I. Man's need for Civilization. 316-329
II. Importance of love in Civilization. 329-341
III. The Classification of States. 341-348
IV. Administration of State and Qualities of an able Administrator. 348-371
V. The Code of Conduct for serving the King and the Civil Authorities. 372-378
VI. Significance of Friendship and nature of Friendly Relations. 379-387
VII. The Manner of dealing with different Classes of People. 387-394

Conclusion 395-415

References and Notes 416-443