ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My sincere thanks and gratitude go to Prof. G. Chandhrika, my research guide for giving me a chance to work under her as a research scholar. Working along with her for this topic has been very encouraging and allowed me to do an independent research all along. She made all the necessary comments and suggestions in the research work in order to highlight the questions raised in the thesis. Her critical views, sparing her valuable time despite her busy schedule for the correction, suggestions especially in the final stage of the research work had added depth to the thesis work. This researcher is grateful for the help and cooperation given by the supervisor during the days for the correction.

The present Head of the Department of History Pondicherry University, Prof. Venkata Raghotham has been supportive in the completion and forwarding of thesis on time. I thank him and also all the faculty members of the Department of History for their moral support and their encouragement of my research.

I am extremely grateful to the members of the Doctoral Committee, Prof. S. Pannireselvame, Department of French and Dr. G. Ramathirtham, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology, for their critical comments and timely help. The first draft and outline of the thesis was critically scrutinized, refined with all the minutest details by them. I am indebted to Dr. B. Krishnamurthy, Associate Professor, Department of Politics &
International Studies. Without his constant encouragement and support in the evolution of research, this work would have remained incomplete.

Library staff of the Pondicherry University Central Library have been very cooperative in issuing books to me. Librarians of the National Archives, New Delhi, Romain Rolland Library, French Institute library, Ecole Extreme Oriental Library, Pondicherry State Archives, Bharathidasan Memorial and Research Centre, Bharathiyar Memorial and Research Centre and Tagore Arts College, Pondicherry have been very kind in locating books and source materials for me. I am indebted to the staff of National Archives of India, New Delhi and National Archives of India, Puducherry. My special thanks are due to Mr. Murugesan (Archivist), National Archives of India, Pondicherry for his valuable assistance in material collection.

The thesis work is the result of support I received from my parents, my uncle M. Nedumaran and my brother A. Muruganandam. I am indebted to every one of them as without their constant support this work would not have seen the light of day.

A.Suresh