I would like to take this opportunity to thank Prof. Mushirul Hasan (Vice-Chancellor, Jamia Millia Islamia, New Delhi) and Prof. S.M. Azizuddin Husain (Department of History and Culture, J.M.I.) for attaching me with the prestigious project on Jawaharlal Nehru, the first Prime Minister of India at Nehru Memorial Museum and Library which also happens to be one of the best places for research work in India.

I must acknowledge and thank the various libraries and staffs of Maulana Azad Library, A.M.U. Aligarh, Khuda Bakhsh Oriental Public Library, Patna; Jamia Hamdard Library, New Delhi; ICHR Library, New Delhi; Zakir Husain Library, JMI New Delhi, CAS History Library, AMU Aligarh, Raza Library, Rampur and NMML, Teen Murti New Delhi.

Special thanks to my brothers, Syed Naqvi Kazim, Syed Mohammad Kazim and their wives, and Syed Hasan Kazim for lending me the moral support and affection that saw me through during this period. My love and blessings for Zain, Abid, Abbas and Fatima.

My wife Neelam and sons Mohammad (Gaipee) and Asad (Atee) have been with me at every stage of this project and have shared in the hardships and joys that have been part of my doctoral experience. I owe a lot to them for standing by me.

This acknowledgement would be incomplete without thanking my papa (Late) and my beloved Ammi. During my research, there have been times of highs and lows, and disappointments galore. What has kept me going has been the thought of my parents. It was indeed their inspiration, moral and emotional support and blessings that gave me the strength and determination to complete this work. Though, papa is no more in this world, but it is the path shown by him, that I tread upon and have today come past a significant milestone on it.
