Acknowledgement

This study is an attempt at understanding the relationship between land, religion and power through analysing the history of two Nayar tarawads in Kerala, the Kavalappara family in the Ottappalam taluk of Palakkad district and Koodali family in the Thalasseri taluk of Kannur district. For the preparation of this work I have received help and support from various persons and institutions and I remember all of them with immense gratitude.

Prof. K.K.N. Kurup, former Vice-Chancellor, University of Calicut has been the supervisor of this work. It has been my great fortune to have a chance to work under his guidance and this opportunity has been a turning point in my life. The advice and encouragement of Prof. Kurup has been a beacon of light for me and I am extremely indebted to him. Dr. M. Vijayalekshmy, my teacher has always been keen to shape my academic career and she has been a real source of inspiration for undertaking this work. Her whole-hearted support and help have been a major factor enabling me to complete this. My love and gratitude to these two persons are beyond words and expression.

The research centre for this has been IRISH, Nirmalagiri, Kuthuparamba, Kannur University. I express my whole-hearted gratitude to Dr. K.S. Mathew, the Director of this esteemed institution, who rendered valuable advice and help to me. I am indebted to him for his love, affection and encouragement. I am grateful to the staff members of IRISH.
I am deeply indebted to the Malabar Institute for Research and Development, Vatakara, Kozhikode. My association with this institution gave me an invaluable exposure to the world of scholars and books. I express my sincere thanks to Prof. E. Ismail, who provided full co-operation and help to me.

I am thankful to Indian Council of Historical Research for granting me fellowship for this work. I express my gratitude to Prof. Devamalini for her kind help, love and affection, which have been a major inspiration for me throughout the period of this work. I am extremely grateful to Dr. N. Rajan, who has always been a source of inspiration for my studies. I express my gratitude to Aparna also. I express my thanks to Dr. Joy Varkey for his sincere help and co-operation.

An important source for this work has been formal interviews and discussions with many persons belonging to and associated with the Koodali family and Kavalappara family. I express my sincere thanks to K.T. Kunhikrishnan Nambiar, Karanavar of Koodali family. I am grateful to the members of Koodali family like K.T. Sudhakaran Nambiar, K.T. Ramakrishnan Nambiar and K.T. Kunhikrishnan Nambiar Komath. It was P. Vijayan an employee of Milma, Koodali who introduced me to members of Koodali family and I am extremely thankful to him. Puthenveettil Vinod Panikkar, Postman of Koodali and a teyyam artist and Meledathu Velichappadu of Koodalikavu have supplied me with a lot of information with regard to the life and culture in the area of Koodali. I express my gratitude to them. I am thankful to A.V.
Vimalkrishnan, who guided me to the monuments associated with the Koodali tarawad.

Interviews and discussions with Adv. Mohankumar alias Kannan Vakeel, Ottappalam, Receiver of Kavalappara Estate have supplied me with valuable information with regard to the Kavalappara family. I am expressing my heartfelt gratitude to him. I am thankful to Smt. Indira Nethiyar and Smt. Sarala Nethiyar, senior members of Kavalappara family, for the information supplied by them. I am also thankful to Sri. Venkiteswaran Embranthiri, priest of Eruppe temple. I am specially thankful to Ramachandra Pulavar, the famous Tholppava artist, Koonathara, Palakkad.

I take this opportunity to thank the officials of the Regional Archives, Calicut especially Sri. Majeed. I express my gratitude to the staff member of the library of NSS College, Manjeri, C.H. Mohammed Koya Library, Kannur University Library and Library of IRISH, Kuthuparamba.

I express my sincere thanks to M/s Bina Photostat, Chenakkal, Calicut University (P.O.) for the typing and the allied works of this thesis.

My friends have supported me at every stage of this work and I express my love and gratitude to them especially Divya, Prajila, Anu and Neena. I express my thanks to Grace aunti, Holloway, Thalassery. I am thankful to Dr. Sreevidya Vattarambath and E.K. Chandramathy. I am grateful to Smt. Chandramathi, Warden, Sreelekshmi Women's Hostel, Vatakara.
As usual my family members have supported my efforts for this work also. I bow before my father Kuttippurath Krishnan Nayar and mother Smt. Radhamani.
