ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A number of caring and supportive people have made it possible for me to write my dissertation and bring it to its present form. To these people, I owe a debt of gratitude for their special and unique contribution.

First of all, I express my heart-felt gratitude to my generous friend Laurie Fredrikson, who once again sent me books and periodicals, otherwise inaccessible to me, from the United States. Her support and encouragement have been invaluable.

I am also indebted to Prof. Stephen Gurney, Department of English, B.S.U., Minnesota, USA, for taking the time to answer questions and offer explanations, besides sending me valuable materials.

I would also like to thank Dr. K.C. Baral, Department of English, NEHU, Shillong, for offering constructive criticism and for making certain materials available to me.

I must not forget to acknowledge and thank my brothers for their help and support. David, for the times assiduously spent in bookshops and libraries on my behalf. Joe, my severest self-appointed critic, for checking on my grammar and spellings, more often than not, with disgust.
Saving the best for last, I must acknowledge the pride and honour it gives me to be one of "Dr. Lall’s Scholars". I will always be grateful that Prof. Lall has agreed to supervise my work from the beginning to its final stages. It goes without saying that without his constant guidance and monitoring, my dissertation would not have achieved its present and final form. His support and quiet faith in me has gone a long way in boosting my morale during the long and often difficult period it has taken to bring my work to its completion.

Department of English
North-Eastern Hill University (Rebecca Lalrintluangi)
Shillong
Dated: July 31, 1999