ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My deep gratitude is due to my supervising teacher Dr. Mahajan P. Mani, Professor, School of Gandhian Thought and Development Studies, Mahatma Gandhi University, Kottayam, for his help, guidance and encouragement given to me in preparing this thesis.

I am very much indebted to Dr. Bernd Pflug, Visiting Professor, Mahatma Gandhi University, who had been practically the co-guide, for advice, support and guidance during the research work.

Thanks are due to Dr. A.K. Chirappanath, Professor and Director, School of Gandhian Thought and Development Studies for the encouragement and support in carrying out the study.

My thanks are also due to Mr. N. Sivakumar, General Manager (Human Resources Management) Kochi Refineries Limited for giving permission to undertake the study in the organisation and his colleagues in the various departments there, particularly those working in the public relations, corporate communications, and personnel functions.

Appreciation is due to all employees of Kochi Refineries Limited who have taken part in the study by responding to formal and informal interviews and providing valuable data for the research.

Thanks are due to the librarians of the British Libraries of Trivandrum and Madras, Kochi Refineries Limited, Ambalamugal, Cochin University of Science and Technology, Cochin, Department of Journalism, University of Kerala, Trivandrum, and Towson University, Maryland, USA.
Thanks are also due to Mr. N. Viswambharan, Kochi Refineries Limited for assisting data documentation and Mr. K.V. Sugunan, Lars Computer Centre, for assistance in preparation of the thesis.

I owe a great deal to my wife and children for the inconvenience they had shared with me during the course of this work.

K.K. Jayan
