ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to record my profound sense of gratitude to my supervising teacher, Dr. R. Vasanthagopal, Lecturer (Selection Grade), Department of Commerce and Research Centre, The Cochin College, Kochi, without whose able guidance and expert advice, this thesis would not have appeared in its present form. I am deeply indebted to him for the earnest interest he has shown in the completion of my work.

I am very much obliged to the University Grants Commission for granting me the Teacher Fellowship under the Faculty Improvement Programme.

I must also acknowledge the encouragement and support extended by the Management of St. Peter’s College, Kolenchery, who without hesitation, kindly granted me permission to be away for a period of two years for doing research work.

I am grateful to the Principal, Prof. Joy C. George, for his encouragement and timely support for completing this study successfully.

I am very much indebted to Rev. Fr. Saviance A.J., Principal, S.H. College, Thevara and Smt. M. Narayanikutty, Principal, The Cochin College, Kochi, for giving the permission to do research in the Centre and provide all the necessary facilities for the successful completion of this work.

I am grateful to the Head of the Department of Commerce, St. Peter’s College, Prof. Jory Mathai and all my colleagues in the department for their valuable assistance and proper advice. My sincere thanks also go to the office staff for their co-operation and timely assistance.

I remember with gratitude the officials of various public and private enterprises for permitting me to have access to the office records and to collect data from employees, trade union leaders and management personnel. I am grateful to the management personnel, employees and office bearers of trade unions who co-operated with me in collecting the required data for the study.
Thanks to the librarian and staff of various libraries at Centre for Development Studies and Kerala University Library, Thiruvananthapuram, Madras Institute of Development Studies and Institute of Labour Studies, Chennai, Madras University, Chennai, St.Peter’s College, Kolenchery, The Cochin College, Kochi for making available to me the required materials essential for the study. Thanks are also due to the Office of the Labour Commissioner, Thiruvananthapuram and The Kerala State Industrial Development Corporation Ltd. for providing the necessary materials relevant for the study.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Jeevanand, Reader, Department of Statistics, U.C. College, Aluva, for his advice in the application of appropriate statistics in my thesis. I am also grateful to Prof. N.K. Vijayan, Department of English, Maharaja’s College, Ernakulam for going through the manuscript and for the suggestions and corrections made by him.

Thanks to M/s. Petcots, Ernakulam for their timely and accurate typing of the final draft.

Finally, I wholeheartedly record my indebtedness to my wife Shyla and son Gowtham who offered inspiration and support in abundance, forgoing the delightful moments of togetherness and affection during the period of my research.
