ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author deems with his sincere privilege to place on record his deep sense of gratitude to Dr. M.C. Kalita, Reader, Department of Biotechnology, Gauhati University, for pains taken to guide me at all stages of my work and providing all kind of help.

I am also grateful to Dr. A.K. Handique, Professor, Department of Biotechnology, Gauhati University for providing conceptual and technical input for the problem.

The author owes a great deal to Professor S.P. McGrath, Department of Soil Science, Integrated Approach to Crop Research, Rothamsted, England, for providing study materials and reprints of his published papers, which supported my work. I also thankful to him for encouraging me for selecting the topic.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. Sushil Kumar, Director, Central Institute for Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (CIMAP), Lucknow, Scientist Dr. A.A. Naqvi of Analytical Division, CIMAP and Mr. D. Saikia, Plant Genetic Resource and Molecular Biology Division, CIMAP for the pain they had taken to analyse oil samples for quality determination.

I also offer my sincere thanks to Head, Regional Sophisticated Instrumentation Centre, Shillong, for providing ICP (Inductively Coupled Plasma Emission Spectrometry) and AAS (Atomic Absorption Spectrometer) facilities for metal quantification.

I am also grateful to Dr. H.P. DekaBaruah, Scientist, Regional Research Laboratory, Jorhat, for helping me in completion of my research work.
I also sincerely offer my thanks to Mr. Alok Deka, Monoranjan Sarma, Pranab Kalita, Rajmohan Bora and Swapan Sinha, Research Scholars and Mrinal Sarma, Laboratory Assistant, Department of Biotechnology, Gauhati University for moral boosting.

I am indebted to my sister-in-law, Sisters, Brothers and nephew Arunav for rendering necessary help and moral support for completion of the thesis.

I also take opportunity to thank Martinet Computer Center, Jalukbari for typing the manuscript with meticulous care.

Last but not least, I express my deep reverence and devote to my parents and all my well wishers for their untiring help and constant inspiration, without which it would have not been possible to complete this work.
